U. S. HIKES SEA, LAND POWER TO 632,000 MEN

Roosevelt Orders to Increase Membership of Army, Navy, Marine Corps by 104,500.

BOOSTS G-MAN FORCES

150 More Agents to Be Added To FBI to Carry on Anti-Espionage Campaign.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The three branches of United States defense —the army, navy and marine corps—began building today toward an immediate goal of 632,000 men under arms, an increase of 104,500 over present strength.

The expansion of this country's armed forces was ordered yesterday by President Roosevelt after he had proclaimed that a state of limited national emergency existed. He took this step as a safeguard to United States neutrality in the present European war.

Regular army forces will be increased from the present 210,000 total to 277,000 "as quickly as possible," Secretary of War Harry Woodring announced. In addition, national guard personnel will be increased to 235,000 from the present 190,000 figures at the discretion of state governors.

The navy's present personnel of 110,000 men will be expanded to a 145,000 total as early as possible and forces of the marine corps will be increased to 25,000 from the present 18,500 total.

Mr Roosevelt said the increases fall well within peace-time congressional authorizations and said he did not contemplate any further expansion of the forces beyond that stage.

Peace-time strength authorized for the army is 280,000 men, for the navy 191,000, marines 38,000, and national guard 428,000.

Mr. Roosevelt also ordered a maximum expansion of 150 agents for the federal bureau of investigation to carry on increased anti-espionage and anti-propaganda work.

Woodring said the army increases would be completed "as quickly as possible" through normal, voluntary enlistment.

"This increase," he said, "is a step toward furnishing the most essential combat units necessary to correct the present deficiencies in important regular army elements of our continental protective provinces. It is designed for the sole purpose of strengthening our protective land forces in view of existing world conditions."

CHILD POISONED

Swallows 25 Tablets Containing Strychnine.

Poisoned yesterday afternoon when she swallowed nearly 25 tablets, Linda Ferguson, two-and-a-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ferguson, 161 Sturges avenue, was confined to General hospital today. Her condition was reported by hospital attendants as "fair."

The child took the tablets which contained strychnine from a bottle in a room where she had been sleeping, her father said.

Young Linda was found by her mother about 3:30 p. m. and was removed to General hospital where she was given immediate treatment.

TRAIN BOMBED

Orchestra Leader Stokowski Perilled by Germans, Paris Told.

PARIS—(U.P.)—The Basle correspondent of the Paris Soir today reported that the Germans bombed and machine-gunned a refugee train on which Leopold Stokowski, famous symphony orchestra conductor, was a passenger.

"The refugee train was in danger of being demolished before leaving the Warsaw station when German airplanes launched a furious raid," Paris Soir said.

PRICE PROTEST

Cincinnati Meat Dealers Ask Wallace to Investigate.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—The Greater Cincinnati Retail Meat dealers association asked Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today to "investigate the cause of the tremendous rise in the price of livestock."

A telgram to Wallace cited "the large surplus of livestock reported last month by the department of agriculture."

Warsaw, Besieged on Two Sides, Digs in for 'Last Stand' Battle

Poles Deny Germans In Outskirts of City

'Enemy's Advance To Break At Walls Of Capital,' Military Leader Says; Defenders' Supplies Cut Off.

BULLETIN

BUDAPEST—(AP)—The Warsaw radio tonight announced at 6:30 p. m. (12:30 p. m. EST) that although the Polish capital was "under constant bombing, we will not yield!" "We will hold out to the very last!" said the broadcast.

(By United Press)

Warsaw, besieged from both north and south, dug in today to try to save itself from German armies which held the western third of Poland.

The German high command claimed its troops already were in the outskirts of the Polish capital, pressing toward the heart of the great city. But the Poles denied that and over the radio London reported that it heard read from Warsaw an order of the day by General Czuma, head of the defending forces.

"Soldiers of the Warsaw garrison!" London quoted the order as saying. "The commander-in-chief has entrusted me with the defense of the capital He demands that the enemy's advance shall break against the walls of Warsaw. We have occupied positions from which there is no retreat."

On the western front, the French claimed to have captured most of the great Warndt forest in Germany in their advance across the no man's land between the Maginot and Siegfried lines. French communique No. 11, claiming the capture of the forest, said: "We found it filled with destruction and all sorts of traps."

Paris military observers interpreted the action mentioned in the terse communique as being a significant strategic victory for the French.

HOW CIVILIANS FLED WARSAW

Editor's Note—Scenes in war stricken Poland are described in the following dispatch by Edmund Allen, United Press correspondent who has arrived at the Rumanian frontier after two days and nights of travel from Warsaw. His dispatch offers the first uncensored account of recent events in the Polish capital.

By EDMUND ALLEN

CERNAUTZI, POLISH-RUMANIAN FRONTIER — A 48-hour flight from Warsaw ended today when a party of American and English newspaper men stepped across the Rumanian frontier.

All of us breathed a long sigh of relief.

We have driven almost steadily for two days and two nights, stopping only briefly to snatch something to eat and buy gasoline. We drove our automobile at snail's pace with the headlights dimmed to hide them from the ever present danger of air raiders.

When we left Warsaw at 6 p. m. Wednesday there were the

KEEP CITY MANAGER PLAN

ASHTABULA —(AP)— Ashtabula residents retained the city manager system by a 3,247 to 2,110 vote, officials announced today in reporting results of a special election. In effect here since 1915, the manager plan would have been abolished under a proposed city charter amendement.

JAILED BY U. S.

Former Bank Employe Accused Of Misapplying Funds.

Clayton A. Knoll, former bookkeeper at the Citizens' National Bank and Trust company was held in the Cuyahoga county jail today awaiting action by the federal grand jury on a charge of misapplication and abstraction of the firm's funds.

Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Charles Ball in Canton this morning, Knoll waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the jury under $2,000 bond.

Knoll was arrested here yesterday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents after a $500 shortage had appeared in his accounts at the bank, a federal agent said.

Bank officials disclosed today that Knoll resigned July 5 and that discrepancies in his accounts were discovered during the past two months.

Knoll had been employed at the bank since 1927.

Where French Claim Gains

The Saar basin, shown in the map above, is the chief target for the French advance against German troops in the west. French troops claim to be nearing the town of Saarbruecken and to have captured most of the Warndt forest. Germans, they say, have been forced back to the major Siegfried line defenses.

Parents Share In Tribute To Author Bromfield

Premiere Inspires City's Biggest Party

Lights, Crowds, Music, Help To Make It Gala Occasion As Mansfield Pays Tribute To Its Most Famous Son.

If Mansfield found it difficult to get back into routine today, it was little to be wondered at, for last night it took down its hair, forgot its grown-up inhibitions and went to town on one of its biggest parties in many years, inspired by the world premiere here of Louis Bromfield's "The Rains Came," and a desire to honor the "home town boy."

When the band played "There'll Be a Hot Time In the Old Town Tonight," it wasn't just playing that.

Today folks were remembering the crowds, the lights, the music, the banners fluttering in the September breeze—and there WAS a breeze last night when you got out into the open—and most of all the man for whom the whole celebration was planned.

Louis Bromfield, author of "The Rains Came" which was premiered at two theaters—the Ohio held only half of the audience, the other half being at the Madison—may have been acclaimed and feted in the literary and cosmopolitan centers of the world, but in none of them could he have received more genuine tribute or been shown more real affection than was accorded him last night.

When he was presented at the dinner at the Mansfield-Leland ballroom, given in his honor before the showing of his picture at the theaters, 278 dinner guests rose to their feet instinctively, and when he appeared briefly at each of the theaters, he was given resounding applause.

That he was, as he said, deeply touched by the entire affair, there could be little doubt. When he was

BREEZES DO IT

Break Heat Wave Day Earlier Than Forecast.

Breezes off Lake Erie cooled Mansfield and other northern Ohio cities today, but the central and southern parts of the state were still in the grip of record September heat.

Relief from the sweltering temperatures reached Mansfield last night, a day earlier than forecast, and the mercury at noon today stood at 78. It was 90 at noon yesterday.

Local showers and slightly warmer were forecast for this section tonight. Sunday is expected to be fair with moderate temperatures.

The heat caused at least two deaths in Ohio, including a week-old baby in Columbus. At Loudonville, John Mutchler, 75, was overcome and collapsed on the street.

PICTURE THRILLS HOME TOWNERS

Spectacular Scenes, Moving Human Story Share Honors In 'The Rains Came.'

By JANE WILLIAMS

Mansfield may have a biased viewpoint on "The Rains Came," which had its world premiere in Mansfield last night at the Ohio and Madison theaters, but it seemed to the home town folks of Author Louis Bromfield that here was a picture which had everything.

Probably no film in recent years has been awaited by Mansfield cinema devotees with more interest than "The Rains Came;" first because of the interest in the author, and second because his novel from which the picture was made was a tremendously fascinating one.

Some one has said that no story is strong enough to hold the foreground in a spectacular story, but this is not true of "The Rains Came," for you leave the theater after seeing it with two distinct impressions — the spectacular destruction of a city, and the human story which moved along before it.

There have been great spectacle pictures before—there was the flood and hurricane of "The Hurricane," the earthquake of "San Francisco" and the fire of "In Old Chicago," but "The Rains Came" has them all, plus devastating pestilence. Not since Cecil B. DeMille parted the waters of the Red Sea for the children of Israel has there been a more thrilling

Troops Drawing Close to Giant Nazi Fortresses

Retreating Germans Destroy Guns And Ammunition As French Army Captures Warndt Forest; Nazis Driven Back Eight To Ten Miles From Border.

BULLETIN

PARIS—(AP)—Military observers said tonight the French army attacking Germany's western frontier was in possession of approximately 200 square miles of German territory, including 20 square miles of the Warndt forest, west of Forbach.

(By International News Service)

PARIS—Advancing steadily through hilly territory studded with crippled instruments of war abandoned by the Germans in their haste, French troops today occupied the great forest of Warndt deep inside the valley of the Saar river.

In an official communique which for the first time identified the actual area taken by the French in their drive toward the formidable Siegfried line itself, the war ministry announced:

"The great forest of Warndt, west of Forbach, is mostly in our hands. The forest was found full of destruction of every kind.

"Our aviation continued its activity in liaison with land operations."

Forbach lies within French territory, just south of the deeply indented frontier of the Saar. At the northeast point of the Warndt forest the Saar river ambles in a southeasterly direction into Saarbrucken and thence after a deep southern dip into Baravia.

As the French forces plodded across the frontier and pressed eight to ten miles into German territory, drawing ever closer to the point where the giant concrete fortresses of the Siegfried line tower into the sky, French authorities gave the first intimation of the haste with which the Germans drew back under the initial impact.

Destroy Guns, Trucks.

The Germans abandoned or destroyed countless trucks, guns and equipment, it was learned. The communique itself significantly mentioned that the forest of Warndt was found "full of destruction."

The German territory taken in the French thrust which opened hostilities on the western front is

LONDON: Week Of War Shows Britannia Still Rules The Waves

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The Royal Navy and the Royal Air Force, Britain's oldest and newest armed services, struck boldly in the first week of the war, while the army prepared for its part in the first big French-British "push" against Germany.

From a flood of official communiques, guarded statements by neutral observers and sly hints from British officers and officials, the following British view may be deduced:

One—Britannia still rules the waves.

The blockade which throttled the old German empire has been effected against the third reich. Although whereabouts of the British fleet is guarded more zealously than the crown jewels, it is safe to assume the western coast of Denmark and the Skagerrack to the north are rimmed with fighting ships.

Such a blockade is only the first stage. It is believed it will be extended around the Danish peninsula to command the Baltic. This would cut off supplies to Germany from the north and possibly give Britain an adequate artillery preparation for a landing force, perhaps at Stettin.

Two—The air force has worked in close co-operation with the navy, as well as doing valuable propaganda work.

The bombing of one, and perhaps two, of three German "pocket" battleships at the Kiel canal entrance is seen by Britons as the most effective British action of the war thus far.

Two ships were announced as sunk by British "fire" in one day. While no mention of submarines was made, it is reasonable to assume they were used.

BERLIN: Nazis Lay Claim To All Conquered Polish Areas

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—A German spokesman announced today that Adolf Hitler had placed Germany's frontiers in the east where they were before 1914 and now considered such parts of the occupied sections of Poland as irrevocably German.

The announcement was made at the daily press conference for foreign correspondents.

(It would mean that Hitler intended to annex to the reich not only Danzig and Pomorze (the Polish Corridor) but also those portions of east and west Prussia, Brandenburg, Pomerania, Poznan (Posen) and Silesia which were taken from Germany by the Versailles treaty and handed to Poland.

(The total area of these districts is 17,810 square miles, the normal population about 3,851,000.)

The supreme high command announced again that German troops had entered Warsaw from the south (an earlier communique said from the southwest); had reached the Vistula river, a major Polish defence line at four points and had gained a footing east of the river at Sandomierz.

Sandomierz center of the Polish munitions industry, is 125 airplane miles south of Warsaw. The four columns had reached the river between this city and the capital.

The communique said Lodz, 80

London Posts 'Welcome' Sign For Return of Duke, Duchess

(By Associated Press)

LONDON— The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, returning to England for the first time since they went into voluntary exile three years ago, receiver a significant editorial welcome today from the influential London Times.

Significant, too—in the light of the stir created by the duke's abdication Dec. 10, 1936, to marry American-born Wallis Warfield, and the controversy over whether she should be addressed as "Your Royal Highness"—was the fact a British destroyer went to France to get them.

The duke, ready to undertake an important wartime task for the empire, left Cannes with his wife last night, en route to a channel port where the destroyer was said to be waiting to rush them to England.

Most observers thought this meant old wounds had been healed by the war, that the government felt King George VI had attained such stature there was no danger he might be overshadowed by his colorful brother, and that the duke might get some important job to help his country.

The Duke of Kent and his wife, the former Princess Marina, will not go to Australia, where he was to have been governor general, it was announced.

The duke has joined the navy. Lord Cowrie will continue as governor general.

"The announcement that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor are leaving Antibes for England will cause no surprise, still less any kind of contention," commented the Times, which often mirrors government views.

TRADERS CASH STOCK PROFITS, BUYING FADES

Portion of Selling Attributed To Belief Hitler May Seek Quick Peace.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stock market traders were still war-conscious today but the buying urge faded a trifle and, with the week-end recess at hand, many inclined to cash profits which had picked up since last Tuesday.

Gains ran to 2 points or so for selected industrials and rails at a lively opening in which the ticker tape was behind for a while and blocks of as much as 5,000 shares changed hands. Activity then slackened. Closing prices were under the tops in many instances and, here and there, moderate declines were in evidence.

Notwithstanding slow intervals, transfers for the two hours approximated 1,500,000 shares. The first hour's volume of 730,000 shares was the smallest for any similar period this week.

Part of the day's selling was attributed to a more cautious attitude of speculative forces in view of conjectures that Hitler might attempt a quick peace if and when the Germans conquer Poland.

At the same time, many observers in the financial district foresaw a long drawn-out struggle in Europe, with home industries benefitting from expanding demand for all sorts of goods other than war materials.

Bethlehem Steel was one of the strong spots of the list throughout.

Favored the greater part of the proceedings were U. S. Steel, Youngstown, General Motors, Western Union, Union Carbide, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, United Aircraft, Dow Chemical, International Mercantile Marine, United Fruit, American Smelting and Caterpillar Tractor.

Backward issues were Chrysler, International Nickel, Woolworth, Anaconda, North American, Westinghouse, Fajardo Sugar and U. S. Gypsum.

U. S. government securities slipped, but secondary corporate bonds showed further improvement. Commodities were erratic. Wheat futures again turned downward.

HOW CIVILIANS FLED WARSAW

wildest rumors running through the city. Some said German tanks already had entered the suburbs. Others said they were only a few miles distant and were advancing rapidly. During the day troops were moving through and around the capital to the southward.

Raiders roared overhead and the earth shook with the thunder of heavy bombs falling in the suburbs.

With the few remaining newspaper correspondents in Warsaw I was due to leave in the last automobile. That is, if the car could be repaired in time. All morning we worked without having any luck. We finally called a mechanic but he was unable to find the trouble.

Late in the afternoon we found out what the trouble was—our gasoline was more than half water.

That explained the strange sight of automobiles abandoned everywhere while people were clamoring for some means of transporation. There were plenty of cars but no fuel to put in them.

A journey across Warsaw was most difficult because of heavy, slow-moving traffic. Trucks laden with people and their belongings choked the streets. There were many private automobiles, most of them double loaded. There were tram carts, buses, droschkas, bicycles and even people pushing baby carriages.

Just over the Vistula river an alarm was sounded and the people abandoned everything and ran for their lives. They took refuge in a wood and soon six planes appeared and began to bomb the outskirts of Warsaw.

A half hour later when the raid was all over a peasant approached and spoke to me. I was unable to understand what he was saying. But the tears in his eyes seemed to be saying: "why do they do this to poor people like me?"

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

YOU KNOW, THIS LITTLE BOOK OF TALES BY EDGAR ALLAN POE YOU GAVE ME IS JUST GRAND — I READ IT OVER AN' OVER — IT'S GOT LOTSA TERRIBLE BIG WORDS IN IT —
AN' THE STORIES ARE KINDA SAD, BUT BEAUTIFUL — WHEN I READ THE WORDS OUT LOUD THEY SOUND LIKE A NICE SONG — NOT LIKE A REAL SONG WITH A TUNE — I CAN'T EXPLAIN JUST WHAT I MEAN —
I UNDERSTAND, DEAR — EDGAR ALLAN POE WAS ONE OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST WRITERS — HIS WORDS TOUCHED ALL HEARTS
I WAS THINKIN' MAYBE SOMEONE WHO LIKED GOOD STORIES WOULD BUY THIS BOOK — I KNOW THE STORIES BY HEART AN' —
DARRELL McCLURE
I'M SORRY, HONEY — THERE ARE MILLIONS AND MILLIONS OF COPIES OF THAT BOOK PRINTED — YOU COULD BUY A NEW COPY FOR A DOLLAR
BUT THE POSTMASTER SEZ SOME OLD BOOKS ARE WORTH MORE THAN SOME NEW BOOKS —

I KINDA GOT THE WIM-WAMS — THE MORE I READ THIS LITTLE BOOK BY EDGAR ALLAN POE THE BETTER I LIKE IT — AN' I KEEP THINKIN' AN' THINKIN' IT MIGHT BE WORTH LOTSA MONEY —
BUT MRS. SPRUCE SEZ YOU CAN BUY A NEW BOOK JUST LIKE IT FOR A DOLLAR AN' SHE WOULDN'T TELL ME A LIE —
BUT THE POSTMASTER SEZ SOMETIMES AN OLD BOOK IS WORTH LOTSA MONEY, BUT HE DON'T KNOW MUCH 'BOUT OLD BOOKS — BUT DOCTOR GOOD WENT TO COLLEGE AN' MAYBE HE'LL KNOW
NOW I'M SCARED IF I ASK HIM HE'LL LAFF AT ME 'AN' THINK I'M GOOFY — DOCTOR GOOD IS SWELL AN' I DON'T WANNA HAVE HIM THINK I'M GOOFY — BUT GEE, IF THE BOOK WAS WORTH MONEY — ???
DARRELL McCLURE

MY STARS, CHILD — DON'T TELL ME YOU'RE GOING TO THE POST OFFICE AGAIN TO SEE IF THAT LETTER FROM MY SISTER HAS ARRIVED — YOU'VE BEEN THERE TWICE TODAY
THE POSTMASTER MAY BE ANNOYED BY YOUR CONSTANTLY ASKING FOR A LETTER THAT NEVER COMES
OH, I DON'T ASK HIM — I JUST GO PAST HIS STORE AN' SAY, "HELLO" — 'CAUSE, I KNOW IF HE HAS THE LETTER HE'LL GIVE IT TO ME —
BESIDES, I PICKED A BUNCH OF FLOWERS FOR THE POSTMASTER — HE LIKES FLOWERS — HE PUTS 'EM IN A BOWL ON THE COUNTER —
HAVE IT YOUR WAY, HONEY — IT'S NO USE TELLING YOU TO GIVE UP HOPE
DARRELL McCLURE
LOOK, MRS SPRUCE — LOOK! — THE LETTER FROM YOUR SISTER IN ARIZONA!!!
96

GOOD MORNING, MRS SPRUCE — EVER SINCE MY HUSBAND TOLD ME ABOUT WHERE YOU WERE LIVING I'VE BEEN DYING TO VISIT YOU
WELCOME! IT ISN'T MUCH, BUT IT'S A SHELTER AND I REALLY LIKE IT
OF COURSE, YOU DO — ALL THE NEIGHBORS ADMIRE YOUR SPUNK — IN THIS WARM SPELL THIS LITTLE PLACE IS JUST RIGHT — HAVE YOU HEARD FROM YOUR SISTER?
YES — I HAD A LETTER FROM HER YESTERDAY — SHE SENT HER LOVE TO YOU AND ALL HER OLD FRIENDS —
THANK HER WHEN YOU WRITE — TELL HER WE WERE INQUIRING ABOUT HER —
WHY DIDN'T I ASK HER IF SHE WAS PLANNING TO GO AND LIVE WITH HER SISTER?? MY DEAR, WHERE ARE YOUR EYES? COULDN'T YOU SEE SHE WAS TOO PROUD TO ADMIT HER SISTER HAS REFUSED TO HELP HER — ?!
91

NO, DOCTOR — MA AIN'T SICK — SHE WANTS YOUR ADVICE 'BOUT SOMETHING
FAIR ENOUGH, SON — I'LL GO IN AND SWAP SOME ADVICE FOR A GLASS OF BUTTERMILK
MRS SPRUCE WROTE TO HER SISTER OUT WEST, TELLING HER HOW SHE LOST HER HOME AND HAD NO PLACE TO LIVE — YESTERDAY, MRS SPRUCE SAID SHE GOT A LETTER FROM HER SISTER — BUT NOT A WORD ABOUT GOING TO VISIT HER —
H'MM! LOOKS BAD — BUT WE MUST NOT THINK TOO HARD OF HER SISTER UNTIL WE KNOW THE FACTS — I'LL TRY TO FIGURE SOME WAY HER FRIENDS CAN HELP MRS. SPRUCE WITHOUT HURTING HER FEELINGS
SHE WAS ALWAYS A GOOD NEIGHBOR
DARRELL McCLURE
GEE, ZERO, I GOT THE WIM-WAMS SOMETHIN' TERRIBLE — WHEN MRS. SPRUCE GOT THAT LETTER FROM HER SISTER — HER FACE GOT AWFUL WHITE — SHE DIDN'T SAY NOTHIN', BUT I KNOW SHE FELT BAD ALL OVER —

DON'T PULL THAT WEEPING WILLOW STUFF — IF YOUR SISTER WAS FOOL ENOUGH TO LET SOMEONE SWINDLE HER — WELL, THAT'S JUST TOO BAD — I'M NOT RUNNING A CHARITY WARD FOR DUMB OLD WOMEN — !!
BUT SHE'S SO KIND AND GENTLE — IT BREAKS MY HEART TO THINK OF HER THROWN ON THE WORLD — ALONE — UNPROTECTED —
WELL, I WORK FOR MY DOUGH — IT KEEPS ME BUSY TRYIN' TO SUPPORT YOU — IF YOUR SISTER COULD PAY FOR HER GRUB —
I WROTE HER IF SHE COULD MANAGE TO PAY $10 A MONTH FOR HER FOOD TO COME ON — BUT I'M AFRAID EVEN THAT MAY BE IMPOSSIBLE FOR HER — WELL, THAT'S HER HARD LUCK!
IT'S NO USE — MY SISTER IS GOOD AND KIND — BUT I FEAR SHE IS POOR AND CANNOT AFFORD THE EXTRA COST OF KEEPING ME — I WOULD RATHER DIE THAN ADD TO HER ALREADY HEAVY BURDEN
IT'S TOUGH TO BE POOR, NO MISTER WHERE YOU LIVE!

BIG SISTER

DON'T YOU THINK WE'VE HAD ABOUT ENOUGH OF THIS MINE-HUNTING BUSINESS?
AW, DAD! YOU'RE NOT GOING TO STOP NOW!
LET'S TRY JUST ONCE MORE, DAD!
ALL RIGHT! WE'LL HAVE ONE MORE TRY AND THEN I'M THROUGH.
YOU NEEDN'T TAKE DE TROUBLE. DAT MINE AIN'T LOST NO MORE!
ARE YOU TRYING TO SAY YOU THINK YOU KNOW WHERE IT IS?
I'VE GOT TO GET JAVAN QUICK!
THINK NOTHIN'! I KNOWS WHERE IT IS!
I GOT TO GIT JAVAN UP HERE QUICK TO TEND TO THIS-HAD NO IDEE THAT FELLER, SPECK WAS SMART ENOUGH TO FIND THAT MINE
AND HERE HE'S TURNED TH' TRICK WHILE I WAS WATCHIN' THE OTHERS DON'T KNOW WHAT JAVAN CAN DO 'BOUT IT NOW.
HE AIN'T AGOIN' TO TAKE TH' NEWS NONE TOO LIGHTLY-WANTED THAT MINE FER HISSELF ALL-FIRED BAD.
YESSIR! I KNOW RIGHT WHERE DAT MINE IS! I WAS IN IT WHEN YOU ALL TOUGHT I WAS LOST!
SPECK! WHERE IS IT? TELL US! DON'T KEEP US WAITING!
TELL YA! I SHOULD SAY NOT! DERE'S A FEW T'INGS TO BE SETTLED FIRST. I'VE GOT DE WHIP-HAND AND, BOY! I'M GOIN' TO SWING IT!
BAH! THAT'S EXACTLY WHAT I'D EXPECT FROM SPECK!
OH, SPECK! YOU WOULDN'T BE SO MEAN!
I WOULDN'T, HUH? YEAH? WELL, DIS IS MY CHANCE TO GET EVEN WIT' YOU FER-FER-WELL, YOU'LL HEAR ABOUT IT LATER!
NOW WHAT HAVE WE DONE?
BELIEVE ME, DEY'LL PAY PLENTY TO FIND OUT WHERE DAT MINE IS. I'LL PROB'LY BE A RICH MAN WHEN I GITS WHAT I'LL HOLD OUT FER
T'INK OF IT! ME A RICH MAN! WON'T NEVER HAVE TO WORK NO MORE! SLEEP WHEN I WANT TO AND EAT WHEN I'M HUNGRY! AND GOOD CLOTHES! NOTHIN' BUT THE FINEST WILL DO ME!
LET'S SEE! FIRST, I GETS ME A GOOD CAR. DEN I'LL NEED A CHAUFFEUR! I'LL LIVE IN DE FINEST HOTELS. OH, BOY! NOTHIN' BUT DE BEST WILL BE TOO GOOD FER ME!
DOESN'T THAT BEAT THE BAND! TO THINK THAT SPECK SHOULD BE THE ONE TO FIND THE MINE!
AND A LOT OF GOOD IT DOES US TO HAVE HIM FIND IT!
NOT IF HE WON'T TELL US WHERE IT IS WITHOUT A PRICE, AND HE'LL WANT THE WORLD!
AW--I WOULDN'T GIVE IT TO HIM!
DAD, IF SPECK COULD FIND THAT MINE SO, COULD WE!
IT'D TAKE JUST A LITTLE MORE HUNTING.
POSSIBLY WE COULD. BUT IT'S NOT CERTAIN. SUPPOSE, BEFORE WE DO ANYTHING, WE SEE WHAT SPECK'S TERMS WILL BE -THOUGHT YE SAID THEY'D FOUND THE MINE! WHY, THER' AIN'T NO SIGNS O' ANY SICH THING! THER' AIN'T NO EXCITEMENT IN THEIR CAMP AT ALL.
BUT DING IT, JAVAN, I HEARD TH' ONE THEY CALL SPECK SAY HE'D FOUND IT
AN' YE GOT HYSTERICAL AND CAME ARUNNIN' FER ME! YE PORE PIDDLE-WIT! DIDN'T COMMON SENSE TELL YE TO MAKE SURE FIRST?
ALL THIS TROUBLE FER NOTHIN' I OUGHT TO LING YE IN THE CRICK! MIGHT YIT IF I AIN'T KEERFUL O' MY TEMPER. THEY HAVEN'T FOUND THAT MINE!
BUT, JAVAN, I AIN'T SO SURE! JIST CAUSE THEY AIN'T MAKIN' A STIR AIN'T NO SIGN 'TAIN'T BEEN FOUND!

Stage Set for Election as 290 File for Rural Offices

RECORD FIELD QUALIFIES IN FINAL HOURS

Two Entered In Muny Judge Race; Only 2 Candidates For 2 School Board Posts.

With 290 candidates filed for municipal, township and board of education posts, the stage had been set today for the fall campaign which will end with the Nov. 7 election.

The candidates, comprising one of the largest groups of office-seekers ever to file in the county, qualified by filing their nominating petitions with the board of elections before the deadline last night.

Pay increases for township trustees and clerks, voted by the last legislature, were believed to have attracted a larger number of candidates for those posts.

In Mansfield, only four candidates filed for three offices—municipal judge and two board of education posts. Candidates for other offices were selected at the August primary.

In the race for municipal judge are Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, seeking a second term, and Atty. George Blecker, former county prosecutor. Judge Kalbfleisch is a Republican and Blecker is a Democrat, but they will run on a non-partisan judicial ticket.

W. C. Mead and Harold A. Bruce are unopposed for re-election to the board of education. They are the only members whose terms expire this year.

Five File For County Board.

Five candidates filed for the two posts to be filled on the county board of education. In the race are L. L. Rinehart, Sandusky township, seeking re-election; Carl Phillipon, Madison township; C. L. Bloom, Shiloh; William M. Ritchie, Troy township, and Irwin Hunter, Bloominggrove township.

J. W. Snook, Mifflin township, the other member whose term ends this year, did not file for re-election. He is a candidate for township trustee.

In Madison township, five candidates filed for the township trustee post held by G. W. McFarland, who is seeking re-election. Others in the field are John R. Sawyer, Frank R. Tingley, Rollin J. Chamberlain, and Floyd C. Miles.

Eleven candidates filed for the board of education in the Union rural district where all five members will be elected because the district was re-organized this year. Four present members are in the race again. They are Russell Myers, Mrs. Ozra Ferrell, E. R. Hershey and Charles Laser. Others who filed are Mrs. Vonie Oswalt, Thomas Crabbe, Wesley Boals, Wilbur Pifer, Lester Lantz, George Robinson and Arthur Pugh.

Other school districts will elect only two members, while each of the villages will choose a complete slate of candidates, including six councilmen and three members of the board of public affairs.

The township, village and board of education candidates are:

Special Congress Session Due by Oct. 1

Up and Down THE STREET

A deep sea scene, complete with sponges, fish and coral, has been transplanted in the window of a paint store on Park avenue west. Five huge sponges, one of them three feet in diameter and cup-shaped, are shown in the display just as they came from the sea off the coast of Florida. Another smaller sponge is shown growing from a shell. Large sea ferns form a background for the picture. Pictures of unusual deep sea fish are pasted on the window to give the illusion of looking into a tank of water.

Hospitality at the Shelby city jail is well appreciated, Chief of Police LeRoy Coffey, former Mansfield officer, has learned. A couple of weeks ago, Coffey's men apprehended a 17-year-old west coast girl hitch-hiking to the New York fair against parental objections, and she was placed in jail to await arrangements to return her home. The girl, now home, wrote to Coffey this week, stating "that while I do not know much about jails, I consider the Shelby jail a very comfortable, not at all a bad place to stop." She indicated, however, that it was not likely that she would return for a visit.

The confirmed cigar smoker who always insists to the Better Half that cigar ashes are good for the carpets and furniture, will find an even better use for the ashes if he follows the advice of a woman in the Mansfield-Leland lobby the other day. A guest at the hotel knocked the ash off his cheroot, and the woman immediately crossed over to him. "You shouldn't do that," she said, "you should save the cigar ashes.. I always do." Out of curiosity he asked her why, and she said: "Because its the best tooth powder in the world. Preserves and whitens your teeth. If you don't want the ashes, save 'em for me." And that's what he's doing.

No one envies the lot of the housewife who has to cook meals over a hot stove when the mercury is above 90. A certain young Mansfield business man was quite concerned about the situation, and spent quite a bit of time yesterday pitying his wife, whom he supposed was suffering in the kitchen at home, getting dinner. He could have saved himself a lot of worry, though. Just before he left his office, she telephoned, instructing him to buy a can opener if he wanted any supper.

ENGINEER DIES

Ora A. Colby, 64, Was Veteran Westinghouse Employe.

Ora A. Colby, 64, of 325 West Third street, veteran Westinghouse engineer, died at his home last evening following an extended illness.

Mr. Colby was born in Hartland, Vt., June 28, 1875, and was associated with the Westinghouse company in this city and Pittsburgh for 35 years. He was a member of the Methodist church and Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

He is survived by his wife, Elsie; two sons, Gordon and William, of Mansfield; a daughter, Mrs. William Terry of Grand Rapids, Mich.; a brother, Elmer, of West Woodstock, Vt., and two sisters, Mrs. Eva Keen, of New Haven, Conn., and Mrs. W. C. Maxam, of Lebanon, N. H.

The body was removed to the Jones funeral home where services will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday with Rev. Mahlon Wenger of the Evangelical Congregational church officiating. Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery Monday.

ARRIVES AT LAST

Loudonville Woman Lands In New York From France.

Mrs. Dewey Hoyer, Loudonville, who has been stranded in France since the outbreak of the war, arrived in New York today, one of the 1,777 passengers aboard the French liner Ile de France.

Mrs. Floyd Buzzard, route 30N, received word this morning that her sister has landed in New York and would be home tomorrow. The French liner which was due Sept. 1 dodged submarine traps in her transatlantic crossing, keeping her position a mystery throughout the trip.

Welcome To—

A daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Carmel, 249 North Adams street, at General hospital Friday evening.

A daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. George [illegible], R. D. 4, at General hospital this morning.

CONFER MONDAY ON POUND PLAN

Commissioners to Listen to Proposal For Change In Care of 'Strays.'

A proposal for the construction of a dog refuge in Mansfield and a revised set-up for the handling of stray dogs and other pets will be submitted to county commissioners Monday morning by the county humane society and representatives of other organizations in the city, it was learned today.

The plan, it was understood, will incorporate a part of the program of the Angell Refuge society which for several years has advocated a refuge for homeless animals and a more humane way of disposing of them.

Commissioners, who have turned down the Angell Refuge proposal, said today they were "willing to listen to any reasonable plan" but still opposed the construction of a "dog hospital" with county funds.

"We realize that the county needs a new dog pound and we will favor building one as soon as we can see our way clear financially," C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the commissioners, said.

Plans for a dog pound to cost about $4,500 were drawn up several months ago, but when it was learned that federal aid would not be available for the project, the program was dropped temporarily, Mitchell said.

It was understood that representatives of the humane society, garden clubs and the Angell Refuge society will make up the delegation that will submit their plan to commissioners Monday morning.

RISING SUGAR PRICES THREATEN PEACH SALES, GROWERS PROTEST

The sale of Ohio's peach crop, termed the "best in years" was threatened today by the increase in the price of sugar which has curtailed canning.

Dispatches from Columbus said that fruit growers complained to University Extension Director H. C. Ramsower today that the soaring prices are hampering their sales.

Fear of a possible shortage similar to those of World war days has caused housewives to curtail canning operations in order to conserve their supply of sugar, Ramsower said.

He added that women who have delayed buying peaches for canning have discovered that the "war buying" of sugar has caused temporary shortages in some cities and will curtail canning, thereby threatening the sale of the peach crop.

Meanwhile Dr. V. R. Wertz, rural economics department at Ohio State university said that there was no shortage of sugar.

Production of both beet and cane sugar in the nation in 1938 was well above the average during the period from 1928 to 1936. World stocks of sugar on May 1, were 84 per cent higher than on that date in the three years from 1925 to 1928, Dr. Wertz said.

CLOSE AT 2 P. M.

4 City Banks Announce New Hours Effective Oct. 2.

Mansfield banks will close at 2 p. m., one hour earlier, beginning Monday, Oct. 2, the Mansfield Clearing House association announced today.

The schedule from Monday through Friday will be from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m., while Saturday hours will be from 9 a. m. until noon.

The change will be made, it was explained, to conform to accepted banking hours in other cities and to facilitate compliance with the federal wages and hours law.

Members of the Clearing House association which will observe the new schedule are the Richland Trust company, Farmers Savings and Trust company, Citizens National Bank and Trust company, and Mansfield Savings Trust National bank.

RUSSIA CALLS UP RESERVISTS

Troop Trains Start for Polish Frontier, Moscow Hears.

MOSCOW — (U.P.) — Russia has started calling an unknown number of reservists to the colors, it was disclosed today, and groups of both uniformed and ununiformed men are entraining at the white Russian station from which trains leave for the Polish frontier.

It was indicated that technicians, particularly chauffeurs who are reserve tank drivers, were being called. Some were merely registered and sent back to their jobs. Others were taken immediately into the army. Doctors and nurses also were registering.

The government also requisitioned some automobile plants and some horses.

PRESIDENT AT WORK ON CHANGE IN NEUTRALITY

Hopes to Convene Congress By End of Month to Press For Revision of Law.

(By International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—Less than 24 hours after he had placed America in a state of limited National emergency to guard against any disruption of this nation's neutrality, President Roosevelt took a week-end breathing spell at his Hyde Park home on the Hudson today.

As he gazed out over the broad and peaceful acres that are in sharp contrast to the "air raid precaution" bomb shelters of London's original Hyde Park, the president turned over in his mind the exact date upon which he will assemble congress in special session to repeal the 1937 neutralty act and its compulsory embargo on all arms shipments.

"Still in the study stage," he said. Best information was that congress would be called back to Washington late this month—almost certainly before Oct. 1—for a highly limited special session.

The president wants simply a return to the principles of international law, upon which he based his sweeping neutrality proclamation two days after England and France declared war on Germany.

Apparently he has abandoned his fight for a six-point program sponsored by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, to be based by specific law on cash-and-carry conveyance of war materials to any belligerent with money and ships. He now says he can approximate the same end by executive order.

Mr. Roosevelt makes no bones of his desire to maintain a strict neutrality in such manner as Nazi Germany shall not get a break over England and France. He has preached for months the theory that an all-inclusive arms embargo, such as he was forced to declare, will have the effect of minimizing Germany's lack of naval strength and tend to assure her supremacy in the air.

Whether or not he gets another fight from congressional isolationists in both Democratic and Republican parties, it appeared certain the president was going to call upon congress for a quick neutralty-repeal session.

Attorney General Frank Murphy was examining all laws which might bear on profiteering. He says they are woefully inadequate.

There was some thought that the special session will be asked to put teeth in the laws prevailing against profiteers of all kinds.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. HARVEY

Rome Woman, 76, Was Active Church Worker; Funeral Sunday.

SHILOH—Mrs. Minnie Harvey, 76, active church worker, died at her home in Rome yesterday after a lengthy illness.

She is survived by her husband, T. W. Harvey; six daughters, Mrs. Mary Hartman and Mrs. Blanche Wagner, VanBuren; Mrs. Maude Morrison, Chardon; Mrs. Edna McQuillen, Adario; Mrs. Dora Cuppy and Mrs. Grace Barnd, Shiloh; two sons, Cyrus of Shelby and T. W. jr., of Rome, one sister, Mrs. Dora Gates, Rome, 22 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Harvey was a member of the Rome Presbyterian church, the Ladies Aid society and was a teacher in the church school.

Funeral services will be held from the church at 1 p. m. Sunday, Rev. Lena Jennings, Perrysville, will officiate, asisted by Rev. James A. Thomas, Plymouth. Burial will be in Van Buren.

SHOW UPTREND

Sales Tax Receipts For Last Week of August Up $3,100.

A continued uptrend in business in Richland county in the final week of August was reflected in the sales tax receipts which showed a gain of $3,100 over the corresponding week last year.

Collections for the week this year amounted to $9,351 as compared with $6,251 last year, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported.

The week's receipts boosted the total for the year to $316,056 for a gain of $62,405 over the first eighth months of 1938. Receipts for the entire state to Sept. 1 were $27,108,757, an increase of about $4,000,000 over last year's collections for an equal period.

NEW T. B. CASE

Clinic Reveals One of 11 Examined Shows positive Test.

Another new case of tuberculosis has been discovered in Richland county, a report of the diagnostic chest clinic held yesterday at General hospital revealed.

Of a total of 11 suspects examined by Dr. T. L. Bliss of Akron, one showed a positive test while the other 10 proved negative. Five of the suspects were from Mansfield, two from Shelby and four from other parts of the county.

Not That It Matters

Thoughts On the Cost of Food, Troubles That Face All of Us In War Times

—By JANE WILLIAMS

WHEN and if a special session of congress is called to amend the neutrality act which will put us on a cash and carry basis with the European nations at war, there should be some thought given to curbing any possible profiteering that may come out of the present situation.

It isn't necessary for America to be engaged in the war before profiteering starts. In fact, it seems to have started already.

When sugar jumped $1.55 a hundred pounds this week, refining companies explained that it was all due to "frenzied buying because of the war scare" and that there was plenty of sugar with no prospect of a shortage.

The two statements don't add up. If there is plenty of sugar with no prospects of a shortage, why should the price jump so fantastically?

An increase of more than a cent and a half a pound, may not mean a lot in print, but it is a catastrophe to people who count the pennies when they buy sugar to make a little jelly or to can fruit that someone has given them. And it means millions in profits for the refineries.

ONE THING that no American should forget in this time of stress is that America is made up of people of all nations, and that so long as we are not participants we should heed the advice of George Washington—to be impartial in our attitude toward foreign nations.

In Mansfield today there are a number of English people, and whether naturalized citizens of this country or not, they are torn with anxiety for their homeland and their friends. And on the other hand, I know two German families who have been the best of citizens here, and who go through the days wondering if their sons and brothers in the German ranks have been killed. One gentle old woman sits at the radio from early morning until night, weeping at the war news. She has two sons in the German army.

WE'LL probably suffer a lot of inconveniences as the result of the war but all women will join me in praying that we do not have the "dye trouble" that we had during the World war. Remember how all silk materials "ran" when they got wet? Especially hose. If you went out with dark or gunmetal hose and got caught in the rain, you were pretty apt to come home with blue lags.

NOW that I have that fear of water which has deviled me all of my life pretty well whipped, I'm becoming a regular Tugboat Annie. Spent Sunday and Monday on the Ohio river, going by cruiser from Madison, Ind., up to California, Ky., a distance of 100 miles. Went to Cincinnati by train, and by motor to Madison, driving on the Kentucky side, up the river to California, then back to Cincinnati by motor and to Galion by train.

The old river seemed to have found new life. It was alive with barges carrying steel and oil. Had to wait at one of the locks for an hour for the huge cargo of steel to go through.

"Business is sure pickin' up," one of the lock men said. "Haven't been so busy since 1918. War sure makes things hum."

There was a note of elation in his voice.

AMERICANS are not all of one mind on the European conflict. "My sympathies are all with Hitler," said one whose grandfathers fought with the Green Mountain Boys at Ticonderoga, and followed Sherman on his march to the sea. "A little nobody who lifted himself up out of obscurity to become the most powerful figure in the world. Beside I am only about 100 years ahead of history. Remember Napoleon was a war lord and despot who did exactly what Hitler is doing today—only on a much larger scale. HE took over Italy, Portugal, Spain, most of Germany and much of Austria and had marched into Russia before England stopped him.

"But history today, 123 years after his defeat by the English, regards him as one of the Immortals. Millions hated him in his life, but he has an imperishable place in history. Isn't it possible history will repeat on Hitler? I'm merely forestalling history."

Dr. Gallup's Institute of Public Opinion shows that only a small percentage of Americans are "forestalling history."

FAIR ENOUGH!

It Didn't Take Long For New Deal to Cool Off on Communistic Propaganda

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—President Roosevelt's intimation that it might be necessary to prevent or offset Communistic propaganda, along with other poisons, is only an intimation, no bigger than your hand, up to now.

But it is the first evidence that the New Deal is disgusted with the political miscegenation which has revolted many Americans during the last few years. The change itself, if it is to be a complete breaking off of this foul flirtation of the radical wing of the Democratic party, is encouraging, although the obvious motives for the jilting are not as noble as they could be.

For a long time it has been noticed that, although the New Deal hated Fascism and Hitlerism with admirable fury and even went to the point of virtual suspension of diplomatic relations with Germany, the administration was, in a rather positive way, cordial to Communists.

When Harold Ickes wanted to sound off he selected as his hosts on two occasions professional group which had been plagued by the activities of the Bolos. Mrs. Roosevelt gave aid and comfort to the American and International Youth congress, which the Communists were using as camouflage for their conspiracy against the American form of government.

The Workers' Alliance received encouragement, and men were planted around in the government who not only despaired of saving the American system but thought it not worth saving.

The Communists supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1936, to be sure, but he gently repudiated that support, and, on Earl Browder's own statement, they had only 100,000 members and perhaps half a million sympathizers who, however, were not entirely reliable.

They acknowledge, with foggy evasions, their status of a subordinate and obedient branch of the Russian government, which is a dictatorship only superficially different from that of Germany and is now a partner of Adolf Hitler in a war against Democracy.

Yet under the New Deal a Communist or fellow-traveler of the Communists, doing the work of the Moscow government in the United States, was deemed to be more American than a Republican or an orthodox Democrat of the type which first elected the Roosevelt administration.

But since the conclusion of the deal between Stalin and Hitler, whereby they mutually dropped the pretense of resisting each other for the purpose of destroying the other's ism, the Communists have become a liability not only to their friends in Washington but even to themselves.

Inasmuch as the personal sympathies of this country very plainly lie with the allies in this war and Russia is Hitler's ally, the Communists find themselves suddenly in wrong with the Americans and all their patient, stealthy scheming undone.

They are no longer of any use to the New Deal, and in a space of two weeks the president comes to the point of acknowledging that Communistic propaganda, like the propaganda of Hitler and Mussolini, is aimed against the Democratic system of government.

The New Deal itself could make anti-Communistic propaganda if it were disposed to, by kicking out of the government in Washington and elsewhere every known Communist and fellow-traveler.

That would do for evidence of a sincere intention to hit the sawdust trail back to the principles of the party which elected Mr. Roosevelt. That was the Democratic party, not the Communist.

FRENCH START BIG OFFENSIVE, GERMANS FLEE

France's Troops Draw Close To Siegfried Fortresses In Heavy Fighting.

hilly and wooded, and cut up into many valleys.

Pottery factories and other light industries abound on the Warndt region, comprising a fringe about the heavily industrialized Saarbrucken area.

Southeast of the forest runs an important commercial and military road, apparently bisected by the French as they crossed from Forbach into the Saar.

On the northern extremity of the forest is another military road and the main railway line through the valley from the Luxerbourg frontier into Saarbrucken.

(Editor's Note: It could not be determined whether French occupation of Wardnt carried with it seizure of this railway line.)

Analyzing this terse communique with the aid of a map, observers can see that the French have taken approximately 100 square miles of German territory.

This corner juts southward into France west of Forbach, which is in France, and Saarbrucken, across the line in Germany.

Blast Roads, Bridges.

As the Germans retreat, this communique and No. 10 revealed, they are destroying all their field fortifications and obstructing the French advance as much as possible by blasting roads and bridges.

But even the land mines the Germans left in their wake as they withdrew to the more solid fortifications of the Reich westwall failed to stem the determined French push.

With Saarbrucken now threatened, the central theater of fighting has swerved from the Lauterbourg corner where France juts into Germany, and where inroads have been made into the forest of Bienwald.

So far, however, there is no indication that French movements are anything other than "feelers," probing for weak spots in Germany's Limes line.

Active In Air, Sea.

Telling of the German retreat, communique No. 10 said:

"Our local progress is continued. At points where the enemy is retreating he is destroying fortifications, and we are encountering mine fields.

"Our scouting planes are active.

"The sea patrol forces also show activity. In order to defend our maritime communications, cooperation with the British naval forces is being closely carried out."

France's initial successes, according to French authorities, have forced the enemy to sidetrack troops who already were preparing to entrain for Poland, and send them to the west front instead of to the east.

Military observers said if the French push continues to divert the German forces, it will weaken Germany's rapid drive into Poland.

Reports that Germany might invade Holland to attack England have been heard repeatedly, Mme. Genevieve Tabouis, authoritative writer for L'Oeuvre, who has close connections with the foreign office, said today.

She said the Germans might use the fact that a few British military aviators have flown over Holland as a pretext.

Chancellor Hitler, Mme. Tabouis said she believed, is under strong pressure by the German military command to delay no longer execution of their plan of action on the western front, and not wait for the end of the fight against Poland.

Germans Admit Nazis, French Battle In West.

BERLIN — (NS) — With the words "on the western front" that were at once familiar and terrifying during the years 1914-1918, the German miiltary high command admitted for the first time today that armed activity is under way on the Franco-German border.

An official communique by the war ministry today made no mention of infantry or artillery fighting, but told of two fighting planes being shot down on German territory in the west.

One of them went down near Karlsruhe, the statement asserted, while the position of the other was not given. It was significant, however, that the German high command finally mentioned German defensive action in the west.

Meanwhile, military headquarters ascribed this morning's air raid warning in Berlin to an attempt by enemy planes to reach the northwest coast of Germany.

"During the night," it was announced, "enemy planes were announced as approaching the coastal districts of northwest Germany from a northwesterly direction.

"The enemy was caught by anti-aircraft fire, whereupon they turned to the southwest and withdrew into Holland. No bombs were dropped.

"On the Dutch frontier, German night chasers took to the air to offer attack. One British fighter crashed on the Schoenstedt-Neberstedt road. The five members of the crew bailed out with parachutes and were taken prisoner."

"The Poles are not resisting further occupation in the province of Posen. The Polish air force is again hardly showing anywhere.

"On the southern front, Germans captured Rzeszow, north of Jaroslav.

"On the western front, two enemy scouting planes were shot down on German territory, one near Karlsruhe."

As City Paid Tribute To Bromfield At Dinner Before Premiere

You can tell by the smile that Bromfield was happy. He's shown here at the banquet in his honor last night, just before the premiere of "The Rains Came" as he spoke briefly.

Someone must have said something funny—Mrs. W. W. Stark and S. Glen Vinson.

H. G. Brunner, who was Louis Bromfield's first employer, as publisher of the Mansfield Shield and Banner, presided at last night's dinner for the author as toastmaster.

corated with Indian baskets filled with flowers. William Dworski, manager of the Ohio theater, and Gratton Johnson, manager of the Madison theater, were assisted at the stage microphone by Paul Endriss. Bromfield and his party appeared first at the Madison and then went to the Ohio. More than 3,200 persons crowded into the two theaters.

At the Leland hotel, the dinner got under way at 6:30, with Fred Judd's Graystone orchestra playing during the dinner hour. The tables were attractively arranged with the late garden flowers. Regal spotted lillies and trailing fern centered the speakers' table and all of the other tables were decorated with unmixed flowers.

Brunner presided as toastmaster and introduced a number of guests, among them Bromfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bromfield of New York City; Mrs. Louis Bromfield, James Craddock, magazine and syndicate writer, who is a guest of the Bromfield's; Nat Wolf, zone manager of Warner Brothers and Ward Marsh, and Helen Allyn, Cleveland newspaper writers. C. L. Van Derau, president of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Hunter spoke briefly.

When Bromfield was presented, he said that he had come back to Ohio to live for two reasons.

"First," he said, "because I know of no more attractive town than Mansfield, no more beautiful country than Ohio and no nicer people than those of Richland county. Second, when I sensed what was happening in Europe and what has since come to pass, I knew it was not fair to my children to keep them there. I looked around for a place where they could grow up and get a sense of values and of democracy, and I chose Ohio.

"I want to say," he continued, "that I have never been happier in my life. I am touched beyond words and deeply appreciative not only of this celebration, but by the friendliness which I encounter in the streets, and the willingness to accept me again as an old friend. No matter where I have been over the world, when people have asked me where I came from, I have always said and have been proud to say - I came from Ohio."

WARSAW DIGS IN FOR LAST STAND

He said the German army would complete its conquest of Poland within a week and then would move 1,050,000 men from the eastern to the western front.

Goering claimed the Polish army in the Radom sector, 60 miles south of Warsaw, was throwing away its arms.

Cut Off From Sea.

Admittedly, the Poles were in a critical situation. The Germans have cut them off from the sea. The bulk of their industrial regions is held by the Nazis. Opportunity for effective resistance has been reduced drastically. Information available in London was that so far there had been no major clash between the Polish and German armies.

So far German communiques have not claimed any sizable capture of Polish guns or other military material, leading Allied military men to hope that the Poles may have withdrawn in good order. But they still are cut off from the source of most of their supplies and munitions and they now have to defend a flat country.

In eight days Germany has thrust 10 major columns deep into Poland. That is an example of the "blitzkrieg" (lightning war) about which Europe has been talking for years.

Britain threw money as well as men into the war today. The treasury announced a credit of $50,000,000 (more than $200,000,000) which will be earmarked for "the efficient prosecution of any war in which his Majesty may be engaged and for maintaining supplies and services essential to the life of the community."

Hitler Must Be Crushed.

London newspapers of all political shades published editorials saying that whatever Poland's fate may be, Britain and France will fight on until Hitlerism is crushed.

Britain's reply to German submarine raids on allied shipping was a drastic plan for control of contraband of war into Germany. Neutral ships carrying war material to German ports will be stopped, searched, and if deemed necessary, the cargoes will be seized. London said it would do everything possible to facilitate bona fide trade between neutral nations.

Reliable informants in Paris said the French maneuvering on the western front had resulted in the surrounding of Saarbruecken and had put the Poilus within striking distance of Germany's Siegfried line. Moroccan troops appeared on the western front to fight for France.

War on the high seas has taken more than 200 lives up to today. Yesterday added six more ships to the casualty list.

The 83-000-ton French liner Normandie tied up in New York harbor for the duration of the war and her crew of 1,000 was en route to France to join the fighting forces.

Soviet Russia started calling an unknown number of reservists to the colors and they boarded trains at the White Russian station in Moscow. Trains for the Polish frontier leave from that station.

HIKE CHARGES

NEW YORK — (AP) — Freight rates on cargo from Atlantic ports of the United States to Great Britain were increased 33⅓ per cent today by the North Atlantic-United Kingdom conference.

The conference, composed of principal American and foreign lines operating to England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland, said the hike was necessary because of increased war-risk insurance costs.

whirled down Park avenue west toward the Ohio theater—the same street that he knew so well as a boy—the Senior High school band burst into a rousing welcome, and Bromfield was as thrilled as a schoolboy. It took policemen and the broad shoulders of Henry G. Brunner to make a path through the crowd for him.

Crowd Jams Street.

Brunner, Bromfield and Mayor Claude M. Hunter appeared at both theaters before the showing of the picture. Park avenue west was jammed with cars and people. Outside the Ohio theater a crowd of about 2,000 gathered in the street and on the lawns across from the theater to watch the proceedings, and the crowd seemed to get as big a kick out of the affair as any of the participants.

Lou Davidson, New York City, and Harvey Bailey were at the microphone describing the scene for those on the outside, and introducing people as they came through the lobby. Not only the dinner guests but many others in the audience were in dinner or evening clothes.

ZEP BLOWN UP?

London Hears Graf Zeppelin Target of Sabotage.

LONDON —(AP)— The London Star said today it had heard the German airship Graf Zeppelin was blown up at its moorings at Friedrichshafen, Sept. 4 as the result of sabotage.

The Star recalled that Swiss sources reported on that day seeing the glare of fire in the direction of Friedrichshafen. The paper gave no indication of the source of its inforamtion concerning the Graf Zeppelin.

(The Associated Press has received no confirmation on the reported destruction of the Graf Zeppelin, although it did receive a dispatch from Switzerland reporting the glare, possibly from an explosion in the direction of Friedrichshafen.)

BRITISH TANKER SUNK, 32 SAVED

Netherlands Steamer Picks Up Crew After Torpedoing.

AMSTERDAM—(AP)—A message from The Netherlands steamer Breedyk today reported that the 5,548-ton British tanker Kennebec had been sunk by a torpedo but the entire crew of 32 had been saved.

The message from the Breedyk's master, to the owners of his ship, the Holland-America line, did not give the location of the sinking because of war dangers.

He said that the tanker's crew had been picked up by the Breedyk.

The Kennebec was owned by the Anglo-American Oil company.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1939

Drive carefully tomorrow—and remember that those double white lines are intended for your protection.

An expert economist is defined as a man who knows all about finance and politics, but who can't untangle a twisted telephone cord.

Why Delay Neutrality Revision?

CALL for a special session of congress, for revision of present neutrality laws, apparently awaits only the decision of President Roosevelt that congressional and public opinion is sufficiently crystallized to insure speedy enactment of legislation which will permit exportation of munitions to warring nations on what is termed a "cash and carry" basis.

Recognizing the surface impartiality of such an act, it is also obvious that only Great Britain is in position to take advantage of a removal of restrictions on arms shipments from the United States and that a flow of supplies from this country would work to the advantage of the European democracies and to the detriment of Nazi Germany.

Predominant sentiment in America, however, is so strongly aligned against Hitlerism that no serious objections are being offered to finding a way in which war requirements can be made available to Great Britain and France, in their efforts to rescue Europe from the threat of further extension of Naziism.

Just what is assumed to be gained by further delay in calling congress together is not entirely clear, unless there is reason to believe that the war will be short-lived, of which there is no present evidence.

People of the United States are brought even closer to realization of being affected by the European war as a result of the president's proclamation of existence of a state of limited national emergency, with announced intention to increase army, navy and marine corps manpower.

Provision is also made for broadening the powers of government agencies to combat subversive propaganda, in the hope of preventing such occurrences as became common prior to America's entry into the World war.

If it is now reasonably sure that congress is satisfied that neutrality laws should be amended so as to remove restrictions on arms shipments, a brief special session devoted entirely to this purpose seems advisable at the earliest possible time.

"What a world," cogitates Robert Quillen. "Only one animal capable of reasoning, and he becomes a partisan and forgets how."

Fair Play at Home

TWO IDEAS appear repeatedly, though in differing forms, in the general comment of Americans about the new war in Europe. One is that this country must not again send an army to fight on foreign soil. The other is that, here at home, citizens must not repeat the cruel mistake of hounding and taunting good American citizens merely because they are of German origin.

The number of disloyal German-Americans in the World war was found to be negligible, but excess of war spirit against the war-makers in Europe led many super-patriots to treat anyone with a German name or German accent as an enemy. This time, it will be well to remember that there are duly constituted legal authorities prepared to take care of disloyal citizens and actual spies.

The naturalized American has adopted this country as his own. He has broken with Old World ties because he believes in America and its ideals. Nearly all of our naturalized citizens give complete allegiance to this government and are grateful for the opportunity and freedom they find here. It is a poor sort of patriotism which overlooks all this and derides or persecutes a good American because of a foreign name or accent.

It might appear that automobiles have attained at least temporary "perfection"—except for the addition of more gadgets.

Turkey Discovers Iron Ore

WHEN iron ore is discovered in so old a country as Turkey, it is news to outsiders as well as the Turks. The discovery of large deposits of this metal near the Black sea is unusually interesting. Until now, there has been no iron in Turkey that anyone knew about. The ore was discovered accidentally in running a line for a railroad. It will be handled in furnaces recently built, which were expected to use imported ore. It is said to assay two-thirds pure.

Accordingly an industrial revolution is forecast for Turkey. Iron will replace wood in plows, wagon wheels and many other things. A primitive part of the world may modernize itself rather rapidly, as the East measures time.

The bearing of this discovery on Turkish self-defense should not be overlooked. Greatest requirement of modern warfare is steel. Turkey becomes better able to take care of herself in a menacing world and becomes of more value to her allies.

Any touch of cold weather noted within the next several weeks should be regarded as merely a preview.

Trades Above Professions

THE JOURNAL of the American Medical association has discovered that the Philadelphia county assistance board allows a higher hourly wage rate for several classifications of skilled workers than it allows physicians, lawyers and architects.

Beginning with bricklayers at $1.79 an hour, the scale decreases steadily with $1.65 an hour for iron and steel workers and $1.55 an hour for plasterers. Then comes a group at $1.51 an hour. This classification includes operators of air-compressors, dredges, pumps and rollers, and also, oddly enough, architects (registered or certified), statisticians (graduate or certified), lawyers and physicians.

The Journal gives the figures with the restrained comment: "There must be some explanation for this classification, but it is not easily apparent."

Word comes that Nazi Germany has developed a newsprint made of potato fibre—so if a printing ink can be made from butterfat and blackberry juice German papers can be eaten immediately after being read.

With a big lodge dropping the title, "dictator," it is also recalled that those Redcaps around railroad stations have a rather suggestive designation.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Let us look at Tony Galento, the prize-fighter, the pugilist, the bartender, the beer barrel polka . . . Let us applaud him for all he has done, and let us kick the tar out of him for some other things he has done.

No run-of-the-mine prize-fighter, no has-been, no man who has taken so many beatings as Tony has assimilated has quite executed as abrupt an about face as he did in his fight with Joe Louis, and for this he deserves his laurels. He deserves the pats on the back that the fight-loving public has given him. He deserves the money he has earned, and only the small in mind, the envious and the mean in heart would wish him ill.

BUT Tony isn't taking his new affluence any too well. He is training now for a fight with Lou Nova. The other day the sports writers, calloused to the blunt side of the training camp life, returned from an afternoon of observing Tony go through his paces. They were shocked and disgusted.

They said in their columns next day that Tony had brutally beaten one of his sparring partners, a man named Silver, because Silver had had the temerity to punch Galento in the nose. Isn't that what sparring partners are for? To sharpen and extend their man? The sports writers I talked with, men who went through the training camp sieges with Firpo and Dempsey, say they have never seen such a wanton, unprovoked display.

Even after Silver was out on his feet Galento was hitting him with everything but a blackjack. When you hit a man whose arms are limp and who is dazed you are apt to kill him. They say Tony just stood there with a leer on his face and belabored a man who could not defend himself.

Okay, Tony, it took you a long time to get the boys on your side. Why alienate friends in an effort to influence one sparring partner?

THE International ice show which Mr. Ralph Hitz has arranged with a great deal of care is a merry, exciting, thrilling, graceful thing to look upon. But the man who ought to be caught up and put into a Broadway comedian's role is not one of the skaters, but the man with the rubber hose who comes out after each performance and sprinkles the floor, which is really a tray that fits under the bandstand.

This tray after each show is refilled with water and shoved out of sight to freeze, like the ice-container in your electric icebox. But the way he does it, his unconcerned manner, is very, very funny, although he does not realize this.

He comes out almost in slow-motion, oblivious to hundreds of diners who are having their dinner in the New Yorker. He unrolls a long line of hose. He looks at the floor, from one angle, then another. He walks here, he walks there. Then cautiously, almost in a frightened manner, he turns on the spray.

When the floor has a new covering of water, he carefully, meticulously rewinds the hose. Then he rolls it out of sight, behind the orchestra. And after that he disappears. His job is done. He has to come on three times a night. Never yet has he seemed to see a single soul. But everybody in the hotel keeps their eyes on him. A gag? Not at all. He's just one of those guys.

DANGEROUS POSITION

Can U. S. Keep Out of New War?

—By MORGAN M. BEATTY

WASHINGTON—If history is any gauge, there are three big barriers to American neutrality in another great war. Here they are, straight from experts who themselves profess no bias:

1. Our very efforts to maintain neutrality dragged us into the World war and the war of 1812, our only two struggles with European nations since 1776.

2. The profits of trade in wartime are important to American capital, especially when 10,000,000 of our citizens are unemployed, and it's not natural to abandon our stake in world trade at a time when the financial going is best.

3. Americans wear their hearts on their sleeves, and will find it difficult, as they have in the recent past, to stand by unmoved when modern bombers rain death on old-world cities.

From the early days of the republic we have stood upon the principle of the freedom of the seas, and tried to maintain a traditional air of neutrality. It's a good trick, if you can do it, but we haven't always been able to do it.

Looking For Profits.

Take the war of 1812 against the British—in which we really were taking sides with Napoleon and France against the rest of Europe.

Long before that war started, our president, Thomas Jefferson, had developed some pretty forthright ideas about European wars. When the British and the French started fighting, he wrote to his old friend, Alexander Donald:

"Since the war is decreed by fate, we have only to pray that the soldiers eat a great deal."

That was one way of saying that he hoped American trade would profit from Europe's bad fortune. And he, with the traditionally neutral European states, insisted on the rights of neutrals to carry on their ocean-borne business.

Here's the way modern-day Philip C. Jessup, Columbia university's expert on international law, views that situation:

"Theoretically, the neutral's position was that they should be let alone . . . to continue their normal commerce. Practically, their demand soon became that they should be free to carry on their immensely more profitable trade which was created by the high prices of belligerent markets and the high freights for ocean shipping."

And So, War.

Therein lay our trouble. British warships seized American men and cargoes. Rather than make war out of that, Jefferson had congress clamp on an embargo, prohibiting American vessels from sailing to foreign ports.

Within a year our foreign trade thinned to a trickle, one-sixth its normal volume. New England wanted to secede. At last the embargo was modified, but the ill feeling between Great Britain and the United States mounted, and the war of 1812 was the result.

It was very much the same story when we entered the World war. It's the usual way a neutral gets tangled up in a war.

By the time German submarines had sunk 55,000 tons of our shipping and killed nearly 50 Americans, we were ripe for anger over the Lusitania disaster, and a declaration of war.

In 1935, we first began to try to shape up a law to keep us neutral in the event of war. By 1937, we had adopted the age-old principle of Jefferson—the embargo to keep American vessels out of war trade in event the president declared a war existent. That, of course, means dropping our rights as neutrals to free seas.

Trouble Galore.

The history of neutrality has been full of contradictions like that. It leads to all sorts of complications—arguments over contraband, privateering, retaliations. Nations at war have even fought for the trade of their enemies.

Great Britain, in the World war, for instance, prevented American shippers from sending hogbacks to Sweden on the grounds that the glycerin in them found its way to Germany. Yet Great Britain, herself, sent hogbacks to Sweden, and profited from the trade.

These are the facts about neutrality distilled from our 150 years of experience as a nation. We usually let our sense of right and wrong lead us into struggle, or else we insist on our right to use the world's highways.

Belligerents don't always like that. They seem to be more interested in winning than they are in the right of neutrals.

Listen, World!

America, Stay Home!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I'VE READ many an argument against war, but none more convincing than these first-hand impressions of an 18-year-old girl, Jane Anne Law, of Hollywood, who has recently visited Europe. Here—praise be—is an expression of that old, priceless, salty American sense which once outsmarted all the wiles and hypocrisies of the Old World. Forget your economic theories and your altruistic vaporings and put your bets on the reasoning which says that A SNAKE IS A SNAKE AND NEVER ANYTHING ELSE BUT! Which same is the gist of Jane Anne's reaction to the Big Shots across the seas. Says she: "Dear Elsie Robinson:

"I have just returned from several months in Europe, journeying by bicycle and train through England, France and Germany. I can sum up my whole political reaction in six short words. AMERICA, STAY OUT OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS!

"The situation in brief is that Germany wants back possessions and rights which she feels were wrongfully wrested from her after the World war, and England will be hanged if she will grant that concession! France is drawn in by her geographical position and her fear of Italy's ultimate demands.

"America has absolutely no reason or need to interfere, as it is strictly a family squabble. The British and French claim constantly that if the United States would ally herself with them, the dictator countries would back down. These two countries are making a big and elaborate show of affection for us now, but in reality have no more love for us than the Germans or Italians.

"The more honest ones profess a contempt for America's tardy entrance in the last war (a sentiment prevalent everywhere) and their gratitude for our financial and military help is strongly lacking.

"All this bosh about our frontier being on the Rhine is ridiculous. I was at Verdun where two million men perished, and the futility of it all is obscene. The largest cemetery there is an American one, with fifteen thousand graves stretching unendingly over the barren hills. In the mausoleum are inscribed the names of thousands more American men who were never found.

"These murdered Americans went to save the world for democracy, but that butchery only succeeded in breeding more wars, causing more dictatorships. War breeds war. There is not one question behind this new war-to-come that was not caused by the last. Our humiliation of the fallen foe only caused them to seek vengeance when they became strong enough again.

"America's fifty thousand war dead died in vain twenty years ago. Sending millions more to die on a foreign battlefield and lending billions of more dollars would be the biggest folly of all. War hysteria and clever propaganda are definitely influencing our country.

"If people would but realize that the United States is regarded as a 'sucker' in England and France as well as the totalitarian states, I'm sure we would keep our hands clean. Also, if we realized that our support is required for gain and purely selfish motives of our European 'pals' and that we are regarded as merely a tool to get them, America would open its eyes and be absolutely neutral.

"Directly after the September crisis, the British government admitted that if the United States had stated its position, there would have been an entirely different result of the Munich crisis. Probably so, for now there would be twenty million men killing and dying and agonizing in the cause of—well, democracy. That's always as good a reason as any.

"Of course we echo England's righteous horror at the persecution and seizure of unwilling countries by Germany and Italy. But try to get an Englishman to discuss India and Palestine! That's something else! And so is their war debt, and our millions of dead!"

Summary of Week's Happenings

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

AS LONG as it remains within my power to prevent, there will be no blackout of peace in the United States," Americans were assured last Sunday night by their president.

Let partisanship and selfishness be adjourned, and national unity be the thought that underlies all others, he pleaded. "Let no man or woman thoughtlessly or falsely talk of America sending its armies to European fields . . . Think things through. . .

"The overwhelming masses of our people seek peace—peace at home, and the kind of peace in other lands which will not jeopardize peace at home . . .

"This nation will remain a neutral nation, but I cannot ask that every American remain neutral in thoughts as well . . . Even a neutral cannot be asked to close his mind or conscience."

Arms Embargo On.

At the very outset: (1) The Athenia sank while en route to Canada with 311 Americans aboard. (2) The villa of the U. S. ambassador to Warsaw, Anthony Joseph Drexel Biddle, jr., was bombed and he opined it was done deliberately. (3) U. S. markets re-opened Tuesday with a boom.

Mr. Roosevelt then issued a neutrality proclamation and invoked the law banning arms shipments to warring nations. This action prevented fulfillment of British and French contracts for more than 1,200 planes, only about half of which had been filled.

During the last session of congress, the administration vainly urged repeal of the embargo law and enactment of legislation to permit belligerents to buy arms here if they paid cash and toted the stuff away in their own ships. Sen. Robert A. Taft, Republican presidential aspirant, predicted this week that congress, if summoned to a special session, would take such a step.

Other Precautions.

Mr. Roosevelt contended the Americans on the Athenia were within their rights, but he advised others to choose U. S. ships, and the state department forbade unnecessary traveling in Europe.

Sitting in front of a map of Poland, the president outlined to newsmen several steps which he planned to bolster American defenses and precautions.

His secretary revealed subsequently that an air and sea patrol of U. S. coasts to spot belligerents' vessels had been ordered, and Attorney General Murphy was directed to call on local law enforcement agencies for help in combatting espionage and sabotage.

The justice department, meanwhile, was studying ways of curbing profiteering, and the newly formed war resources board was studying commodity price trends.

Panama invited all American republics to a conference on safeguarding the peace and preventing the European war from dislocating trade and finances in the western hemisphere.

Abroad

Poland Invaded.

UNDECLARED WAR between Germany and Poland began Sept. 1. The Poles said a German plane fired the first shot at 5:30 a. m. The Germans, contending that they were resisting attacks, swiftly drove two spears into the Polish Corridor and a third sword into southwestern Poland.

On Sunday, Sept. 3, the British and French governments declared war on the Third Reich.

Confident that Germany's "western wall" would hold against French-British assaults, Reichsfuehrer Hitler went immediately to the eastern front. The news from London and Paris had pepped up the Poles. But Germany continued to report troops advancing rapidly.

As the Nazis closed in around Warsaw many of its 1,300,000 people fled, and government officials were reported to have left the city secretly.

Looking Back.

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, 80, sat beside a radio in Doorn this week, studying a map of Poland. In his heyday:

Britain declared war on Germany when an ultimatum demanding cessation of the invasion of Belgium expired.

France entered, too, "for the holiest of causes—safeguarding the civilization and liberty of France and Europe."

Vice Fuehrer.

Before leaving for the eastern front, Reichsfuehrer Hitler decreed that, if he should die, heavy-set square-jawed Field Marshal Goering should succeed him.

Goering has been a pillar of the conservative wing of the Nazi movement and had his daughter christened by a Lutheran bishop despite his colleagues' hostility to Christianity. Germans who would not think of calling Der Fuehrer "Adolf" shout "Hermann" whenever Gen. Goering appears.

Balkans on Guard.

South of Poland, five nations with 2,400,000 men mobilized and 3,000,000 more in reserve strove this week to keep out of war. They were Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece.

Closest to the fireworks were Hungary and Rumania. The Reich-Russian pact had caused dissension among Hungarian Nazis, and other Hungarians were torn between sympathy for Poland and regard for Germany. The Rumanians massed most of their troops along the Russian frontier.

Turkey assumed an "attitude of expectation" and Turkish newspapers upbraided Germany.

Asia's Undeclared Wars.

Japan intends, Premier Nobuyuki Abe announced this week, to keep out of the European war and concentrate on "the China affair." British and French naval chiefs were asked to withdraw their forces from China to "remove the danger of incidents."

Russia announced victories over the Japanese last week on the Manchoukuo-Outer Mongolian front and was reported unofficially this week to be seeking a settlement of that undeclared war. Reds indicated they expected to get rich selling supplies to both sides in the European war.

Red Emissary.

Alexander Schkarzev became Moscow's ambassador to Berlin last week-end while warring nations' diplomats were scuttling for home. Now 39, he is a textile expert, said to have been close to Premier Vyacheslaf Molotoff—and Nazis, eager to barter for red supplies, had a brass band out to meet him. Furthermore, Berliners noted joyously, seven members of a Soviet military mission flew to Germany with him.

America's ambassador to Berlin, Hugh R. Wilson, resigned Sept. 1, but U. S. Charge d'Affaires Alexander Kirk remained in Berlin and took over affairs of the British and French embassies when war was declared.

People

Duce on Sidelines.

"We will march with Germany," Benito Mussolini said only a few months ago. But Adolf Hitler said last week he didn't need help. So this week the Italians turned on lights, removed air-raid shelters, and ordered their ships to sea.

Many suspected the Rome-Berlin axis was in the ashcan. But a Danish newspaper reported a Rome-Berlin-Moscow-Tokyo axis was being formed. Another unverified story Thursday was that Signor Mussolini still hoped to sponsor a peace pow-wow.

"Il Duce is smart," the Italian people concluded. "He will lead us through this."

Churchill and Eden.

Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill, 65, soldier, writer, adventurer, artist, bricklayer and statesman, was one of the first British bigwigs to dub the Nazi regime "a government of terrorists." In the first World war, he was first lord of the admiralty. In the first political move of this war—formation of a British war cabinet—Prime Minister Chamberlain gave Churchill that post again.

Anthony Eden, who broke with Mr. Chamberlain over the "appeasement" policy in 1938, became dominions secretary.

Czech Commander.

When Czechoslovakia collapsed, Gen. Lev (Lion) Prchala, a veteran of the Czech legion formed in Russia during the first World war, sent—part of his troops to Rumania and went to Poland with the rest of them. This week Polish President Ignace Moscicki authorized him to lead a Czecho-Slovak force against Germany.

QUOTES

Fritz Kuhn, German-American Bund head: "Hitler will lick the whole of Europe."

Francisco Franco, Spain's boss: "The more there is fighting now, the more we sow germs of future wars."

Bertrand Russell, British philosopher: "After three or four more wars people will be willing to be under international law."

In Short

Born: A son, to Interior Secretary and Mrs. Harold L. Ickes.

Made: A new type of artificial heart, in which several organs can be kept alive simultaneously, by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Averted: Theatrical strikes, by dissolution of the American Federation of Actors, ending actors' and stagehands' jurisdictional strife.

Testified: By Earl Browder, at the Dies hearing, that rich "Republicans" offered Communists $250,000 if they would nominate Franklin D. Roosevelt for president in 1936.

Died: Dr. Hall Canter, Randolph-Macon college dean; Charles Donnelly, Northern Pacific railroad president; the Rev. Francis J. Dolan, Holy Cross college president.

Timely Editorial

Blocking the Robbers.

Michigan has organized an alertness which should prove very discouraging to robbers and other criminals who use the highways for their getaway attempts. Michigan state police are now organized to have every road leading from that state into Ohio and Indiana blockaded within 30 minutes after an alarm is given from the state radio station. There are 187 of these roads. At the same time, guards will be stationed on every one of the 88 routes entering Detroit. Cooperation is arranged with Chicago for a watch on Chicago entrances.

This blockade plan is a splendid example of the use of radio and automobiles by officers to beat the crooks.—Toledo Blade.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

EXCITEMENT FILLS LATE SUMMER DAYS

Social Events, Opening of Club Season Contributes Much; Several Organizations Set First Sessions Next Week.

By FRANCES E. GENSLEY

EXCITEMENT runs rampant around the newspaper office these days, and the approaching autumn club season has contributed plenty to make the society department hum and buzz the live long day. Upon my return it was apparent that much had taken place in the weeks preceding the final summer holiday and likewise coming events were casting decidedly long shadows before them.

So now to get back in the harness, and tell you all about the things that your clubs and your friends will undertake during the coming week. The children are nicely started to school, club programs have been printed and distributed, folk are mostly all back from their vacations, and it is too early for fall housecleaning, so maybe you'll all have time to relax for a few minutes in the glider with me and look over the schedule of coming events.

Looking Over the Week's Calendar.

Sunday.

The final month of entertaining at Westbrook Country club arrived with a flourish over the Labor day week-end, but things haven't quieted down one bit. Tomorrow the last of the series of summer musicales will be given with Miss Charlet Cellars, flutist, presenting her trio during the afternoon program.

Music will be played by Miss Cellars, Margaret Hall, pianist, and Evelyn Schieber, cellist, between the hours of 4:30 and 6:30 p. m. and Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Cropper will receive. Refreshments will be served.

Monday.

The first of the autumn meetings of the Richland County Medical society auxiliary will be held at the Women's Club Monday night when the members entertain their husbands. Hostesses for the event include Mrs. W. D. Abrams, Mrs. C. R. Damron, Mrs. J. F. Morey, Mrs. C. L. Shafer, Mrs. S. C. Schiller and Mrs. Laura Stofer.

Two social sororities and two church organizations selected Monday for their meetings also. The Zeta Rho chapter of Delta Theta Tau will meet with Virginia Stevick, and Marjorie Campbell of Ashland will entertain the Alpha Omicron Pi alumni.

The busily ringing telephone yesterday informed the department of a number of coming events of which we were not aware, and it seems that every moment we have more and more to write about. A very special called meeting of the Women of Moose has been set for Monday night at the home, and the first autumn meeting of the Business Girls Bible club will be held at the Women's club at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. D. W. Cummins, leader, as hostess.

Mrs. Hazel Smith, 825 Park avenue west, will entertain the Madam Cotta class of the First Lutheran church at her home, and Mrs. Clifford Faust is entertaining in her North Townview circle home for members of the Delta Theta chapter of Delta Theta Tau.

Mrs. H. H. Caster will open her Rae avenue home to the Rachael France guild, and Mrs. Harry Oblinger will entertain the Mary Voegele Missionary society. Mrs. Rose Traxler will be the hostess to the Pocahontas degree team, while Mrs. Della Cochran and Mrs. Harriett Beck serve in the same capacity for the Past Presidents club of the D. of U. V.

Tuesday.

The third day of next week is destined to be an important one in the lives of two organizations of this city. The regular schedule will be resumed by members of the American Association of University Women when they gather at Brookside park in Ashland for their picnic and first meeting. Miss Elizabeth Ackerman is chairman, and members of group one will serve as hostesses. The same evening members of Chi Sigma sorority will elect new officers at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

A business meeting and program will occupy members of the Linnaeus Garden club when they meet with Mrs. M. T. Brinkerhoff, and just business will be the order of the evening for members of Joan of Arc circle, D. of L. at the Bird building club rooms.

Four church groups—the Golden Rule class and Pastor's Aid society, the Dorcas class and the St. Paul guild—have all scheduled meetings on Tuesday, and the Social Crochet club will go to Miss Barbara Massa's home, while the Buena Vista club meets at the Mifflin Community house.

Now that school has started the Parent-Teacher organizations are also beginning their work, and the first group to announce a meeting was the Newman School P. T. A. The session will be at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the school with Mrs. Rose Fensch speaking on "Newman P. T. A.—Yesterday and Today." Mrs. Fensch is the widow of the late Charles Fensch, one of the founders of the association.

E. W. Kissel, school principal, will speak on the "Aims and Purposes of the State and National P. T. A." and music will be furnished by the Mt. Calvary Baptist church choir.

Wednesday.

Things look light for the day that was named after the ancient god, Wooten, but many things can happen between then and now. The launching of affairs in Business and Professional Women's circles will be an event of Wednesday evening at the hotel when the members have dinner there. Miss Pearl Danback will serve as program chairman, and she will show a series of movies of recent European trips she has taken. The Misses Esther Dunham and Ida Willis, and Mrs. Mildred Perry will assist. Hospitality committee members are the Misses Maude Vail, Florence Lentzy, Mabel Charles and Jeannette Hoffman.

A luncheon-bridge at the country club will be an event of Sept. 13 with Mrs. Robert W. Stevens as hostess. A grand prize will be awarded at this time.

Mrs. J. H. Linefelter, 130 Dawson avenue, will be hostess to the members of the Eureka Birthday club.

Thursday.

Perhaps the most important beginning of the entire season is that of the Mansfield Federation of Women which will be in the form of a bridge-luncheon Thursday at the Women's Club. Because the federation boasts a membership of more than 400 women its activities are of wide interest in the city. Mrs. C. O. Russell is general chairman, and Mrs. W. H. Burleson will be hostess the first session.

Three church groups—the Loyal Daughters class of St. John's, the Women's Missionary society of the U. P. church, and the Mary Markley society of St. Paul's—all are arranging events for Thursday.

Promptly at 2 p. m. women of the St. Luke's Lutheran church guild will begin hospital sewing, and at 4 o'clock a program will be given followed by supper, Mrs. Neil Remy president, stated this morning. Then too, the Prospect Mother's club will have a session at 2 o'clock at the school.

Friday.

No matter what happens to excite us, we still thrill most to wedding plans, so Friday we welcome because Miss Vera Reinoehl and Jesse A. Keller have chosen that day for their marriage. The ceremony will be read at the First Lutheran church at 2 p. m.

Garden clubs are still busily working, and four of the local organizations will be active on the first day of the week-end. Louis Bromfield, who has been exceedingly busy with the premiere of "The Rains Came," which took place here last night, has agreed to talk to members of the Mansfield Garden club out at Westbrook.

The same day will witness sessions of the Astowela group at Mrs. J. H. Finefrock's, the Johnny Appleseed unit with Mrs. Robert Black, and the Cottage club with Mrs. George Smith.

The Mansfield Poetry guild will have its first autumn meeting at the Women's Club. This will be a guest luncheon with Rev. Herbert Garnes speaking on "Radio." The program will include musical selections by Betty Uhlich, Mary Eileen Schuler and Mrs. Willis Park, and poems by Ethele Cole Duffey and Arlu Pugh.

In addition to these events there will be meetings of the Gleaners' class, the Get-Together club and the Neighborhood Bible club.

Saturday.

I was surprised to return to Mansfield and discover that no wedding had been scheduled for Saturday, thus leaving the week-end calendar quite bare. Members of the Schnitzelbank club will be guests at Guy Stewart's cabin for a corn roast and the celebration of Glenn Leonard's birthday.

The opening function of the Jared Mansfield chapter of the D. A. R. will be a Constitution day tea Saturday with Karl H. Berns, Columbus, as guest speaker. The Jonathan Glee club octette will furnish the music. Mrs. Sidney Palmer is hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. L. Creveling, Mrs. S. D. Hoover, Mrs. Alexander Fraser, Mrs. W. P. Close, Mrs. LeRoy Wittemire, and Mrs. James Bailey.

The same evening a dinner-bridge party will be held at the country club for members. Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hill will entertain. And thus we wind up the week's activities. Plenty more is promised in the near future so keep a lookout for these week-end glimpses.

HAS PARTY.

Joyce Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Miller, 54 Herman avenue, was honored Thursday afternoon with a party in celebration of her fifth birthday. There were 10 guests present, and prizes were won by Alma Jean Gestel, Wilma Brant and Patricia Jean Kirkpatrick.

Garden Club Has Exhibit at Home of Mrs. S. H. Orr

A club flower show was an event of yesterday afternoon for members of the Town and Country Garden club at the home of Mrs. Samuel Orr, 510 West Townview circle. Mrs. W. L. Olds was the associate hostess.

Luncheon was served at small tables early in the afternoon, and then Mrs. C. H. Bell, club president, conducted a short business session.

Mrs. David Shelley was chairman of the flower show, and she was assisted in the judging by Mrs. Merritt Giles and Mrs. Clay Noel. Prizes were awarded in two classifications, speciman and arrangement.

Mrs. Orr, Mrs. Eugene Smart and Mrs. Noel won blue ribbons in the speciman group, with second prizes going to Mrs. Ralph Emerson and Mrs. Orr.

Blue ribbons for arrangement were awarded to Mrs. Bell, Mrs. D. L. Arehart, Mrs. Shelley, Mrs. Kenneth Woodman, Mrs. M. G. Bredbeck, Mrs. H. W. Gibbs and Mrs. Paul Endriss. Mrs. E. K. Clark, Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Smart, Mrs. Endriss and Mrs. Woodman were recipients of the second prizes in this group, and Mrs. Noel, Mrs. Shelley and Mrs. Giles were third prize winners.

Mrs. George Price will have the next regular meeting of the club at her home, 238 Bartley avenue, on Sept. 22.

Missionary Society Has Steak Roast Last Night

Mrs. Robert Weltmer was hostess last night for a steak roast at the home of Mrs. Earl Penney, Sheridan avenue, when 15 members of the Gamma Mu Sigma Missionary society of the First Christian church gathered. Mrs. Joe Bertka led the devotions and Mrs. Lucille Luthold and Mrs. Margaret Takos gave topics on "Home Missions."

The book, "Right Here at Home," was reviewed by Mrs. Henry Bechtel. The next meeting of the society will be held Oct. 6, but the place has not yet been selected.

Club Women Judge Entries In Flower Show

The News-Journal photographer snapped the above picture as the judges were looking over some of the exhibits in the flower show, which members of the Town and Country Garden club had yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Samuel Orr, 510 West Townview circle. Shown from left to right are Mrs. Merritt Giles, Mrs. David Shelley (chairman for the day) and Mrs. Clay Noel.

WOMEN FROM VICINITY BELONG TO AUXILIARY

Railway Mail Group Counts Members In Four Towns; First Session Held Today; Program Planned for Entire Season.

AN UNUSUAL organization is the Crestline branch of the Women's Auxiliary to the Railway Mail association for it counts among its members not only women of this city but ones from Loudonville, Crestline, Bucyrus and Forest. One of the attractive green-covered programs of the organization, which started the year's activities with a garden party at the home of Mrs. J. C. Appleman, Maple street, this afternoon, was received today.

The regular monthly meetings take place on the third Sunday of each month (excepting today's) and offer a variety of study and entertainment. In October a program on vacations will occupy the members, and the customary Thanksgiving and Christmas themes will be carried out the last two meetings of the year.

The 1940 sessions will include papers and songs and several meals for the entertainment of the members, and summer picnics will carry the group through the season.

Officers for the ensuing year are Mrs. L. S. Wilson, president; Mrs. E. W. Dye, vice president; Mrs. B. O. Brenner, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. E. G. Anderson, corresponding secretary, Crestline, and Mrs. E. W. Stitzlein, parliamentarian, Loudonville.

Members of the executive committee are Mrs. T. H. McCreary, Mrs. F. C. McNeal, Mrs. C. E. Jones and Mrs. W. S. Marshall, all of Crestline. Ways and means committee chairmen are Mrs. V. Q. Stauffer, Forest; Mrs. C. V. King, Crestline; Mrs. Grant Church, Loudonville, and Mrs. J. C. Robinson.

Other committees are: floral, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. O. A. Zimmerman, Forest, Mrs. Dwight Arnholt, Loudonville, and Mrs. Robinson; music, Mrs. H. D. Ackerman, Mrs. Arnholt, Mrs. Dye, and Mrs. H. M. Spoon, Forest; and program, Mrs. Arnholt, Mrs. Church, Mrs. Stitzlein, Mrs. I. L. Adrian and Mrs. R. M. Ames, Loudonville.

Last Day of Month Chosen By Kathleen Hawley for Marriage

FRIENDS of Miss Kathleen Hawley learned of her approaching marriage to Colison Holmes when her mother, Mrs. Ethel Hawley, and her aunt, Mrs. Fred Kindinger, gave an announcement party for her at the Susie Janis home on Park avenue west road yesterday evening.

Miss Hawley and Mr. Holmes, son of Mrs. Genevieve Holmes, R. D. 2, will be married on Sept. 30 at the First Lutheran church. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the church, will perform the ceremony at 10:30 a. m. before members of the immediate families and close friends of the couple.

There were 27 guests in attendance at last evening's party, and bridge was the diversion with prizes going to Mrs. Robert Glessner, Mrs. Charles Wolford and Miss Leota Pittinger.

When luncheon was served the long table was decorated with appointments in a pastel color scheme. A bouquet of fall flowers at one end of the table was figuratively being drawn toward a tiny mirrored pool at the other end by five miniature swans. Green and white ribbons extended from the swans to the guests' place cards, which concealed the announcement scrolls. The hostesses presented the bride-elect with a gift of china in honor of the occasion.

Miss Hawley who resides with her mother at 256½ Park avenue west, is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and an employe of the Ohio Brass company. She is a member of Delta chapter of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority. Mr. Holmes was graduated from Weller Township high school and Ashland college. He is now employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

The first in a series of prenuptial parties honoring Miss Hawley will be given next Friday evening by Mrs. Glessner and Mrs. Wolford.

Elected Head of Club At Miss Chew's Home

Mrs. John Courtney was elected president of Beta chapter of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority Thursday evening during a meeting at the home of Miss Virginia Chew on Highland avenue. Miss Eleanor Clingan will assist her as vice-president, with Mrs. James Courtney serving as treasurer and Mrs. Charles McMullen as secretary.

The group gave Mrs. Frank Fox a shower of personal gifts and honored the hostess with surprise birthday gifts. Miss Jane Wagner and her niece, Miss Janet Williams, were guests of the sorority for the meeting. A floral centerpiece decorated the long table when refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"As always, you think of everything," I told Lillian beneath my breath. "It would have been cataclysmic"—we looked at each other understandingly—"if I had gone to the nursery first."

"You do know the niftiest words," she murmured, showing her gamin grin. "But here we are!"

I knocked softly upon my mother-in-law's door, and, when there was no response, knocked again more vigorously. When there was still silence, I turned to Lillian.

"Do you suppose she is in there and won't answer?" I whispered. "When we came in, I didn't have time for anything except a hasty kiss, but I thought she'd understand."

"Cut!" Lillian advised from the corner of her mouth, prison fashion, and at almost the same instant my mother-in-law's voice sounded from behind us.

"Well! Margaret!" she said, and the syllables were packed with outraged dignity and reproach. "It's about time you were explaining this performance. Bringing five guests besides yourself, also eight guards and drivers, without any notice to me, with the house already almost full and looking like a hurrah's nest, the way that ape of a Katie keeps it lately. I shall be very glad to know what you have to say in explanation."

"But, Mother Graham," Lillian said, "didn't Harry tell you we were coming? When I telephoned him, I told him to tell you."

"Yes, he told me," Mother Graham said tartly, "but when?"

"Not more than ten minutes before you arrived," she said, indignantly.

"And he must have known you were coming some time before that, because I know when he was called to the telephone," she went on aggrievedly. "Did you tell him to wait before he told me?" She turned on Lillian sharply.

"Oh! Mother Graham! How can you think that of me?" Lillian exclaimed.

"At my age and with my experience, you can think almost anything of anybody," she retorted.

"But that's neither here nor there," she said. "What I want to know is what is going on here? It must be something pretty important to bring such a cavalcade down here. And what's happened to Noel? All I could get out of Mary was that he'd hurt his arm, and then she whisked him off upstairs. And your father, Margaret, looks simply awful. Are you sure he isn't—"

"Thank you for your solicitude, Mother dear," I told her, for I know she likes the sonorous phrases of an older time, "but while Father has been very ill, and is still exceedingly frail, the physician assures us he is all right.

"And you are right—it is something very important that has brought us down here. Lillian and I were just coming to tell you all about it, so that you will be the first one of the household, except Harry, to know. Are you at leisure now to hear us, or shall we wait awhile? I warn you, it's a very exciting story."

SIMPLE CEREMONY PERFORMED TODAY

Miss Anne Contracieri, Paul Dune Exchange Nuptial Vows at St. Peter's Catholic Parsonage; Now on Eastern Trip.

SIMPLICITY marked the single ring ceremony which was read at St. Peter's Catholic parsonage at 10 o'clock this morning by Rev. John Flynn for Miss Anne Marie Contracieri and Paul Bertrum Dune. The altar at the parsonage was decorated with ferns and palms.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Contracieri, sr., 70 Superior street, wore a golden brown costume suit trimmed in cross fox fur and matching accessories.

With this she wore a gold locket, gift of the bridegroom, and a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses. Her only attendant was Miss Betty Lou Becker, who wore a rust knitted suit, matching accessories, and a corsage of Radiant roses.

Samuel Contracieri, brother of the bride, served as best man. After the ceremony dinner was served to 20 guests at the bride's home, and later today the pair left for a brief eastern trip. Talisman roses, and lighted white tapers, and a bride's cake decorated the table.

Mrs. Dune chose a beige suit with matching top coat and accessories for travel. Upon their return to the city the couple will be at home at the Superior street address.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Contracieri chose a royal wine print ensemble with black accessories, and Mrs. Dune was attired in navy blue with plum accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of Sweetheart roses and variegated carnations.

The bride is a graduate of St. Peter's high school, while Mr. Dune, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dune, 247 East Arch street, is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school. He is a corporal in the Ohio National Guard, and after serving his apprenticeship in pharmacy, he became an inspector at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company where he is now employed.

Mrs. W. E. Stamm, Columbus, sister of the bride was a guest.

Arrange Future Events During Session of Club

Arrangements for a number of future events were made last night when members of Omega Tau Gamma met with Mrs. Karl D. Seymour, 183 Newman street. Mrs. William Maglott and Mrs. Vincent Foote were appointed to make arrangements for a guest tea.

Mrs. Robert Darling jr., Mrs. Norval Bower and Mrs. Paul C. Woodhull will be in charge of the dance which the club is planning. Following the business meeting the members played bridge and pinochle.

Winners were Mrs. Darling and Mrs. Woodhull. The hostess served a two-course luncheon at the close of play at tables decorated in a green and white color scheme.

Mrs. George Smallstig, Hyde Park, Pa., was a guest, and was also presented with a prize. The next meeting will be Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. Frederick Antrican, 275 East Third street.

Fancy Dress Golf Day Planned at Westbrook

Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock golf will be played as usual at Westbrook Country club with the women participating in a fancy dress day program. Members will appear in various costumes for play.

During the handicap tournament, which is now in progress, matches will be played on Tuesday according to the pairings posted in the locker house. Luncheon will be served at the club house Tuesday.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE BEST IS THE WORST

All of the good books on bridge tell us that certain leads are desirable and certain ones are undesirable. Most of them are based on combinations of honor cards. Solid combinations, such as ace-kings, king-queens and queen-jacks, usually are rated as offering good lead possibilities, whereas single guarded honors or combinations of non-touching honors, such as ace-queens and king-jacks, are rated as not affording effective leads, because they stand to be more valuable if led toward than if led from. There are times, however, when the bidding reveals facts which can make the usual worst possible lead into the best, and vice versa.

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

Lots of bidding generally comes with freak distributions, and this deal was no exception. West called 1-Heart, North 1-Spade, South 2-Diamonds, West 2-Hearts, North 2-Spades, South 3-Clubs, North 3-No Trumps, South 4-Diamonds and North 5-Diamonds, which West doubled.

West led the heart Q to the K, the heart A furnished a discard of South's only spade, and it was thereafter impossible for West to take anything but his club K and his diamond A, so that the contract was made.

When it developed that West could have set the contract by leading his spade A, he said such a lead was inconceivable from a major tenace. Why inconceivable? North had rebid spades, and almost certainly held the king. South had refused to support the rebid suit, and had shown a probable six-five division of his minors. If South had any spade it was probably singleton. Maybe the diamond A should have been led, then the spade A.

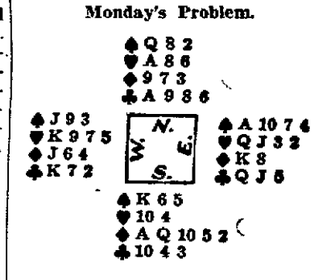
Monday's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

If East bids 1-Spade here, South 2-Diamonds, West 2-Hearts and North 2-No Trumps, what should East do?

HAVE MEETING.

There were 21 members and two guests in attendance at a meeting of the Helping Hand Bible class at the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. 'CORN QUEEN' TO BE CHOSEN BY BUCYRUS PUPILS

Eliminations In Contest to Be Held Monday; Finals to Be Held Sept. 23.

BUCYRUS — Eliminations for the nominees for Bucyrus Corn Queen will be held in all Crawford county rural schools Monday and in Bucyrus High school. From the nominees selected in the 11 schools will be chosen the Queen to rule over the annual Corn show in Bucyrus, Sept. 22 and 23.

Queens selected from the schools will appear in a style revue at Bucyrus Schine theater Friday night, Sept. 15 when judges from outside of the county will select the corn queen who will be crowned in a fitting ceremony on Washington square Saturday afternoon, Sept. 23.

Nominees for queen will be chosen on standards of attractiveness, personality, popularity, poise and carraige.

HOLD FIRST SCRIMMAGE

BUCYRUS— Scrimmaging with Tiffin Columbian Friday night, Bucyrus high school gridders had their first real workout of the season under lights at Lane street athletic field.

The season opener will be held next Friday night when Marion St. Mary's class B team comes here.

Approximately 65 boys have reported for practice each evening since practice began two weeks before the opening of school. Coach Kish is working out a schedule for the reserves, who are in his charge.

BALANCE RISES

City Has $170,000 Cash on Hand, Auditor Reports.

Although the city's general operating fund was more than $7,000 overdrawn, a running cash balance of $170,000 was reported on hand today by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley, an increase of $30,000 over the balance two months ago.

Kelley said that while the general fund was $7,030 in the red, the fund would be bolstered within the next few weeks by receipts from the current real estate tax collection which are expected to total approximatly $50,000.

The increase in the balance over July's figures, the auditor said, was due to an issue of $41,000 in special assessments bonds which boosted the special fund to $96,764. The water works fund was shown at $66,027, garbage fund $627, and the sanitary sewer fund, $13,624.

GETS $2,000 TO PAY OFF NOTES

County Receives Funds From State to Retire Relief Debt.

The state today distributed $2,004 in beer, malt and admission tax receipts to Richland county and its subdivisions for retiring relief notes.

The county recently paid off the last of its old relief notes so all of the funds will go to Mansfield, Shelby and Madison township which have relief debts totaling about $75,000, Deputy Auditor Arthur S. Beck said.

In issuing notes last winter to meet their relief bills, the three subdivisions "mortgaged" their beer, malt and admission taxes to 1942. All receipts from that source must be used to pay the notes.

PICTURE THRILLS HOME TOWNERS

spectacle than the breaking of the Ranchipur dam and the earthquake which opened the earth and swallowed the people of the city.

Twentieth Century-Fox really went to town on the destruction of the city by flood and fire.

Instead of subordinating the story, all of this only highlights it.

The cast has been assembled with intelligence, and although Twentieth Century-Fox irritated many readers of the book by casting Wonder Boy, Tyrone Power, in the role of the high caste Major Safti, he actually had the first role since he became a top notch star that suited him physically. For the Power worshipers he probably did a very good job, and for the others, he was adequate.

The cool loveliness of Myrna Loy gave a charm and softness to Lady Esketh—traits with which she was not endowed in the book, but withal she did a very good job.

But the part you'll remember longest is George Brent's Tom Ransome.

The picture will do a lot for Brent, for it is one of the best roles he has ever had. Up until "Dark Victory" he had been getting too many mediocre roles and some bad publicity hadn't helped his career. You have a feeling throughout the picture that Brent and Ransome are actually the same person, with the same sense of weary boredom and the same satiation with life.

Movie goers who are pretty well fed up on "promising newcomers" who are nothing more than inexperienced kids who seldom get anywhere, sit up and take notice when Brenda Joyce displays her lovely and animated face and entirely satisfactory figure on the screen. Here is a youngster you'll be seeing from now on. She is not only pretty but holds her own in a cast of first rank players.

But highest acting honors in the picture go to the small, wrinkled Russian, Maria Ouspenskaya, as the maharanee. Nothing in the picture, not even the earthquake, was more dramatic than the diminutive ruler standing alone after the death of the maharajah, marshalling her small forces to combat the devastating forces of nature.

Even the smaller roles were individualized by the players. Jane Darwell as the wife of the American missionary, Marjorie Rambeau as Mrs. Simson, Mary Nash's Miss MacDade and Joseph Schildkraut as the polished Bannerjee who goes native in the face of disaster, gave impressive performances.

"The Rains Came" is not the first of Bromfield's books to be filmed but it is certainly the best. Last night was the first time he had seen the completed and assembled picture and he expressed himself as being satisfied.

Shown at both the Ohio and Madison theaters last night, it continues throughout next week only at the Ohio.

'Y' POOL CLOSED

Unit Will Be Reconditioned For Fall and Winter Program.

The Y. M. C. A. swimming pool will be closed for the next two weeks while it is being conditioned for the fall and winter program, it was announced today by R. M. Calene, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. house committee.

During the period it is closed, the pool will be cleaned and repainted. Cleaning and repairing of the pool will get under way Monday, and is expected to be ready for use again during the week of Sept. 25.

ASKS STATE O. K.

City Seeks to Sell Bonds to Raise Relief Funds.

The state tax commission was asked by city officials today to approve the sale of $25,000 in delinquent tax bonds for financing the city's relief load for the balance of the year.

Copies of the legislation approved by council Tuesday night asking for authority to issue the bonds was sent to the commission today by Council Clerk William J. Beer, jr.

Council Tuesday night acted to set up a $85,000 poor relief fund by appropriating $10,000 from the general fund and asking for permission to issue $25,000 in bonds against delinquent tax receipts.

The funds would be used to match state money for the payment of $20,000 relief indebtedness and to finance the load for the next four months.

TAKE OFFICE

New Heads of Hermit Club Will Assume Duties Monday.

The Hermit club will begin its fall and winter season of activities with a dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. Monday at the Y. M. C. A.

New officers elected in the spring will assume their duties at this meeting. They are Dean Eckert, president; Dr. Harry Knox, vice president; George Culler, secretary-treasurer, and Robert W. Stevens and E. P. Yocum, trustees. Eckert succeeds Dr. Clarence Hien as president.

GETS TAX FUNDS

BUCYRUS—County Auditor C. C. Metzger today announced receipt of a check of $1,161 representing the county's share of the beer tax. The money will be used for the retirement of poor relief notes.

The county has also been allocated $1,919 by State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood for the first relief allocation under the new Ohio law.

TAKES NEW POST

GALION—Friends in Galion and vicinity will be interested to learn that Hilda Schooley Leech has accepted a position as teacher of English speech and dramatics in the Harrell junior high school, Columbus.

Mrs. Leech resigned from the Galion high school teaching staff after teaching here for 12 years because the Galion board of education has a rule that no married women teachers may hold positions in the public school system.

LIGHTS IN USE

2 of City's 4 New Traffic Signals Installed.

Two of the four new traffic lights purchased by the city this week were in operation today.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist said the new lights were regulating traffic today at East Second and Foster streets and at Newman and Spring streets.

One of the new signals was placed at Second and Foster streets and the other at Park avenue east and Foster street, replacing a three-bulb light which was moved to Newman and Spring streets.

The two other traffic lights will be installed next week, one at West First street and Sturges avenue and the other at Harker and North Mulberry streets.

ASHLAND WILL OFFER COLLEGE NIGHT COURSES

Classes to Be Started Sept. 25 With Sessions Two Evenings Each Week.

ASHLAND—Ashland college today announced the beginning of night classes on Sept. 25. College courses will be offered according to requests of those interested in enrolling.

It is expected that business executives, professional men and women, and people in many different occupations will find profitable courses among those offered. High school graduates unable to carry regular college work during the day will find it possible to enroll in the evening division.

Meet on Two Days.

A single course or a college program leading to a degree may be taken. According to present plans, classes will meet on Monday and Thursday evening, beginning Sept. 25. Some classes will meet one evening a week and others will meet twice a week. Tuition rates will be low and will vary according to the hours of credit in the course.

Courses already scheduled are: Advanced accounting, astronomy (or statistics), Bible, engineering, drawing, international law, private instruction in speech and music, personal budgets and investments, public speaking, and radio physics. Educational courses will probably be offered. Where there is sufficient demand for a course an effort will be made to arrange an evening class, the college officials announced.

Regular Saturday classes at Ashland college are scheduled to begin Sept. 23. Courses will be offered on demand. Subjects definitely scheduled are: Oral interpretation, sociology, psychology, botany and English poetry.

SENDS PROTEST

Belgium Acts After British Bomber Flies Over Nation.

BRUSSELS — (UP) — Belgium today strongly protested violation of her neutrality to Great Britain after Belgian planes forced a British bomber to land and after a Belgian plane crashed in an exchange of fire near Mons.

In a communique, the national defense department said:

'Three big bombers were chased last night by our air force. One British bomber was forced to land. One other bomber was chased by two of our planes and was warned by signals to land. It opened fire, wrecking one Belgian plane and forcing the occupants of the Belgian plane to take to their parachutes.

'This violation of our neutrality has provoked a strong protest from the Belgian government to the British government."

SHELBY EVENT DRAWS 15,000

New Attendance Mark Assured As 7,000 Attend Fair on Next to Last Night.

SHELBY—A new attendance record appeared assured today as the annual Shelby Street fair went into the last day. A crowd of 7,000 attended the fair last night to run the three-day total to 15,000.

One of the largest displays put on by the farm organization at the fair is housed this year in booths along Main street, east of the High School avenue intersection, where exhibits have been entered by the Granges, Union, Plymouth, Hazelgrove, Shenandoah and Roseland granges. More than 60 pieces of farm machinery are being shown in the Central school park. The farm products are on tables on East Main street east of the park.

The highlight of the four-day fair is the annual colt show sponsored by the Richland County Horse Breeders' association being held today at the Black hardware barn on Wall street. A parade of the colts at 3:30 p. m. on Main street will precede the presentation of the various awards at the west side square. Col. Robert French of Columbus and Clark L. Beal, general fair manager, will award the prizes to the owners of the winning colts.

A Farmer's Diary

Empty Shells.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I SWUNG my scythe against the base of a big thistle, when suddenly at my feet a dark-backed, bewildered bird was jumping up and down with wings outspread, screaming as if in torture. I stepped back, startled. It was a mother quail, and she was much upset. Her feathers were ruffled until she looked twice her normal size. I thought I had hurt her, and put out my hand to help, but she only stood her ground and prepared to flop me, like a mother hen.

Only then did I begin to comprehend the cause of her distress. I looked down. A little quail no larger than a female hummingbird was hidden in the hollow near my heel. It ran beneath a plantain leaf. I stirred about and at low quick calls from the mother bird, I glimpsed ten little ones sliding through the leaves without the least sound, toward where their anxious mother pranced about.

At my feet a matted tuft of grass was folded like a hood towards the south, while from the eastern side a tiny trail led in under the shelter of the thistle branches. I peered within and saw at least a dozen clean white eggshells, some piled upon the others. The little birds were only a few hours old. Here they had hatched. I went away and left them to their mother's care.

At sunset my wife went with me back to see the proof of my fairy tale of the afternoon. We found the nest and marveled at the cunning way it was concealed. For even with the thistle cut away, the natural fold of grass made the gleaming eggshells impossible to be seen. I reached in and lifted an empty shell. It was broken about two thirds of the distance from the smaller end, and [illegible] The severed portion folded neatly over to form the middle [illegible] all the [illegible] each was broken [illegible] all the little ones came out in a similar manner.

It seems that even in hatching quail's eggs Nature has her laws of order and rightness. The empty nest of shells was a finished job, and we had never seen a task more nearly accomplished.

SHELBY HOST TO BAPTISTS FROM AREA THURSDAY

Prominent Church Leaders to Address 120th Conference Session.

A number of prominent Baptist leaders will speak Thursday at the 120th conference session of the Mansfield Baptist association in the First Baptist church at Shelby.

Heading the group will be Dr. W. H. Bowler of New York, former executive secretary of the council on finance and promotion of the Baptist church. He will speak at the afternoon session, beginning at 1 p. m., on the topic, "Trailing the Missionaries Around the World."

Others who will speak include Dr. Paul Judson Morris, Granville, executive secretary of the Ohio Baptist convention, Dr. C. H. Stull, Granville, secretary of evangelism of the Ohio Baptist convention, and Miss Helen Wickes, Granville, director of Christian education of the Ohio convention.

A delegation from Mansfield, headed by Rev. Hayes Braker, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will participate in the "Youth Night" session Thursday night. The panel discussion that night will be in charge of a group of young people from Mansfield.

Present Play.

Topic of the youth meeting will be "Bridging the Gaps Between the Local and the World Community." A religious play will be presented by the Loudonville young people.

As moderator, Rev. Braker will be in charge of the meetings which will get under way at 9:30 a. m. The annual sermon will be given in the morning by Rev. H. K. Freeman of Galion.

Making up the Mansfield Baptist association are 10 churches in Mansfield, Bucyrus, Galion, Perrysville, Loudonville, Vermilion, Newville, Shelby, Pleasant Valley and Auburn.

Services at 10:30 a. m. Sunday at the Park Avenue Baptist church will include music under the direction of Lawrence S. Frank, minister of music, and a sermon by Rev. Braker.

Frank will play "Berceuse" as the prelude, "Cradle Song" for the offertory, and "Fugue in E Minor" as the postlude. Musical numbers will be a duet, "Lead Kindly Light," Miss Boswell and Miss Shingleton and the anthem, "O Thou From Whom All Blessings Flow," by Misses Boswell and Shingleton, Mr. Hall and Mr. Seifert.

Miss Bessie Byerly, a missionary of the Presbyterian church to India, will speak twice next week at the Park Avenue church. She will address the Junior and Senior World Wide Guilds at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday and the Women's Union at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

The first fall rehearsal of the senior choir will be held at 7:30 p m. Friday in the church.

BROTHERHOOD TO FROLIC AT FARM

St. John's Group to Hold Final Outdoor Meeting Monday.

The Brotherhood of St. John's Evangelical church will hold its final outdoor meeting of the season at 6 p. m. Monday at the W. W. Schaus farm on the West Fourth street road.

Arrangements are in charge of Charles Heston, chairman, Carl Phillipon, R. W. Schaus, W. H. Schaus, Adam Schmidt, Harry Wolf and Herman Hoffman.

The brotherhood held its annual entertainment for children of the Richland County home last night. Refreshments were served and a musical program presented. Frank Vild, president, and Philip Smith were in charge of arrangements.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Sept. 10.

Sunday's horoscope holds propitious auguries for progress, prosperity, promotion and a general state of satisfaction with the world and its opportunities for growth, expansion and the pursuit of happiness. The day is under a most warming influence of friendly stars, so chase away all manner of depressing, limiting and inhibiting undertones.

Those whose birthday it is should have a year of great fulfillment of their highest hopes and wishes, with many things contributing generously to the march toward major objectives and high ambitions.

For Monday, Sept. 11.

Monday's astrological forecast has conflicting testimonies. While there is a quickening influence at the base of things, both stimulating and exciting, a devastating force may carry matters too far, and in a hazardous direction. With sagacity, shrewdness and the wise counsel of superiors or employers, the day may be saved. Personal associations offer compensations.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of some surprising upheavals, the outcome of which may be perilous or gratifying, according to the cleverness or sagacity with which the devastating circumstance is met.

PRESENTS PROGRAM HERE

David Breaux, blind pianist and gospel singer, of Louisiana, will present a series of programs next week at the Mitchell Chapel A. M. E. church on Glessner avenue. Beginning Monday the programs will be presented nightly through Sept. 17.

Baptist Speaker

DR. W. H. BOWLER

SCIENTISTS HEAR OF 'SUBSTANCE'

Lesson-Sermon Will be Read at Services Tomorrow.

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed" (John 6:27).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. . . . Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear (Hebrews 11:1,3).

miles southeast of Warsaw, would be occupied today by units pressing into the city from the east while the great bulk of troops fighting there are following the enemy south of the Bzura river by passing the city on both sides as the Polish troops retreat fighting.

Zwolen and Radom, 60 and 40 miles, respectively, west of Lublin, were taken, the communique said, by the armies which then continued toward Lublin, to which the Polish government fled from Warsaw early in the week.

An unexplained air raid alarm roused Berlin before dawn while the capital waited expectantly for final word that Warsaw had fallen.

Screaming sirens roused most of Berlin's 4,000,000 inhabitants from beds at 3:38 a. m. (9:38 p. m. EST, last night). A second alarm was sounded less than an hour later.

The city's huge air defense machinery went into instant action. Thousands of artillerymen manned anti-aircraft guns, and many fighting planes warmed up for take-offs from dozens of secret hideouts.

But no hostile planes appeared in the clear, starlit sky, and the startled population was notified later by an "all clear" signal it could go back to bed.

DNB, official German news agency, issued a statement at noon (6 a. m. EST) today, evidently in explanation of air raid alarms:

"Tonight the approach of enemy planes from a northwesterly direction was reported over northwestern Germany in the coast region. The enemy encountered our anti-aircraft artillery," it said.

"Enemy planes turned off in a southeasterly direction and started a return flight over The Netherlands. No bombs were dropped.

"Along The Netherlands border, German night pursuit planes took off to ward off enemy planes. One English bombing plane crashed. The crew of five jumped out with parachutes and was taken."

OPEN SPAN BIDS

State Reports Napolean Contractor Low on Bellville Project.

J. W. Harper of Napoleon was the low bidder today on construction of a concrete and steel bridge and approaches on route 13 south of Bellville.

Harper's bid was $17,424. The state highway department was expected to let the contract within a few days.

The new bridge will replace a short, narrow structure where a number of traffic accidents have occurred in recent years.

Coach Al Fendrick is pictured above demonstrating to Capt. Bill Heichel how to hold the pigskin prior to drop-kicking one of those important extra points. Heichel, who will be stationed at the quarterback post for the Madison high Rams this year, is expected to do most of the punting and drop-kicking.

By CHARLES MARTIN

THE TASK facing Coach Al Fendrick in rebuilding Madison high school's grid machine this fall is a difficult one, to say the least.

With graduation leaving several noticeable weaknesses in the line and backfield the Rams' mentor is working hard to mould together a football machine he hopes will hold its own against the tough opposition on the eight-game schedule.

Among the mainstays of the 1938 squad who are absent this season are Gene Harmon, Joe Miller and the Wilkins brothers, Bill and Robert. Harmon, who won the individual scoring championship last fall, and Miller were two of the principal reasons for the team's great record. Bill Wilkins was an end and Bob handled the pivot post.

Coach Fendrick, however, still has eight lettermen returning and he expects these veterans to carry the brunt of the attack against the seven Class B and the Class A foes on the schedule.

In the backfield will be three lettermen. Doug DeNero, Capt. Bill Heichel and Bob Matthes. DeNero, who looked like a promising back a couple of seasons ago, worked at a flank position last fall, but Fendrick believes the youth will be one of the principal cogs in offensive maneuvers. Bob Heichel will round out the backfield.

The first obstacle in the Rams' path is Wooster high school which invades Madison field for a setto Friday night under the floodlights. Wooster is the only Class A opponent on the sked.

Lettermen that are expected to get the nod for starting roles in the line are Bud Barber and Louis Danison, ends; Dave and Walt Weimer, tackles, and Jim Robinson, a guard. Two inexperienced men, Ed Nalezinek and Bill Folmer complete the forward wall. The former is a guard and Folmer replaces Bill Wilkins at center.

Assisting Fendrick with the linemen is Al Kipp, former Madison grid star. Approximately 41 compose the squad from which Fendrick will select his regulars and first line reserves.

After tackling Wooster on the home field, the Rams trek to New London for their second battle Friday, Sept 22. All home games will be played under the arcs. The schedule follows:

Sept 15—Wooster
Sept 22—At New London.
Sept 29—Open.
Oct 6—Orrville.
Oct 13—Lodi.
Oct 20—Norwalk St. Paul.
Oct 27—Open.
Nov 3—Bellville.
Nov 10—At Loudonville.

Linster and Mayer Tangle In Finals

Pete Linster will be out to defend his title when he faces Joe Mayer in the finals of the Possum Run club championship tournament at the course Sunday. The two top-notch shotmakers are scheduled to open hostilities at 9 a. m. The second 18 holes will be played in the afternoon with the two expected to tee off at 2 o'clock.

Linster reached the finals by eliminating Vin Malaska, while Mayer advanced by beating Grant Hanawalt in the other semi-final affair.

Harvey's Shoes Hop Into Tie for Lead

Victories In Postponed Matches Enable Shoemen to Share First Place In Golf League.

ONLY two weeks of play remain in The News-Journal Class B golf league and there are still five teams with an excellent chance of winning the championship.

Harvey's Sample Shoes hopped into a tie for first place with the Ohio Public Service club and only seven points separate the co-leaders from the fifth-place Bissman company entry.

The Servicemen defeated Elks Kicks, 3 to 0, to retain a share of the lead while the Sample Shoes battled the Elks Lodge club to a 1 to 1 tie. The Shoemen however, gained a hold on the top berth by winning several postponed matches.

Central Fruit remained in third place, five points behind, although it dropped a 2 to 0 decision to the Auxier Motors. In the other matches, The News-Journal beat Richman Clothes, 2 to 1, and the Bissman team took a 2 to 1 verdict from the Mansfield Metal Vaults.

Johnny Burns of the Elks Lodge foursome won individual medal honors in yesterday's play with a one-over-par 37.

The contests, usually played on Thursday, were postponed until yesterday because of the Rotary Guhldahl exhibition at the course.

Home Run Wins

Walters Delivers Circuit Clout as He Leads Reds to 5-2 Win Over Pirates.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(By Associated Press)

IF AND WHEN the Cincinnati Reds and New York Yankees take the field for the 1939 world series, the opposing pitchers probably will be William Henry (Bucky) Walters and Charles Herbert (Red) Ruffing.

This prediction isn't made with mirrors. The two blokes have earned the assignment.

Walters, first hurler in the majors to win 20 games this year, copped his 23rd decision yesterday with a 5-2, five-hit workout against the Pittsburgh Pirates. Besides contributing a sterling pitching performance, the rangy righthander hit a home run in the eighth inning to break a tie and start Cincinnati clicking.

He has been a stanchion for the sometimes quavering Reds to tie to all season. His 26 complete games top all hurlers in both major leagues. He has popped up with victories that snapped Cincinnati losing spells no fewer than eight times and he took the mound against the Pirates yesterday on two days rest.

Ruffing obtained his 21st victory as the world champions stopped Boston's bedraggled Red Sox 4-1 in a game abbreviated to seven innings by rain.

It was New York's third straight triumph over the Sox but did not increase the Yankees' lead because President William Harridge of the American league took away a forfeit awarded them at Boston Sunday when fans delayed the second game of a doubleheader by strewing the field with straw hats and bottles. The contest will be replayed September 26.

As dean of the Yankees hurling corps, Ruffing's right to start the first series contest, expected to be played at Yankee Stadium, October 4, is unquestioned. He opened for New York last fall and also in 1936. This is the fourth consecutive year he has won 20 or more games and right now he appears as strong as ever.

The group of 20 game winners was joined yesterday by Bob Feller, the Cleveland fireballer, who gave the St. Louis Browns a five-hit diet as the Indians staged a 12-1 massacre.

In the only other American league game the Philadelphia Athletics overcame a 13-8 deficit in hits to edge out the Washington Senators 5-4.

The St. Louis Cardinals choked off the Chicago Cubs for the second straight day 10-3 to conserve the distance between themselves and the Reds. The Cubs, who made four errors Thursday, blundered five times more yesterday.

Meanwhile the Brooklyn Dodgers swept a doubleheader from the Phillies 11-2 and 3-1 to move into fourth place, within a game and a half of the third-place Cubs.

Title at Stake at Lucas Sunday

Lucas, Richland county league leader, and Shiloh, which holds down second place, will meet at Lucas at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. A victory for Lucas will definitely cinch the title, while Shiloh can tie the Cubs with a win. Lefty Diehl will oppose Shiloh. Manager Leiter announced today.

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

THERE will be an increase in activity at 50 West Third street next week.

That's the site of the Meder Recreation bowling alleys, and, by this time next week, a number of leagues will have had their 1939-40 baptism.

Club league teams will launch their season Monday night. The Commercial C league will share the alleys on Mondays again this season, but this circuit will delay its opening until the week hence.

The Mansfield Tire and Westinghouse will again bowl on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, respectively, but they are not scheduled to lift the lid for at least another week.

Thursday night will mark the opening of the Women's and 12-team Moose lodge leagues. The Commercial B league, first of the city's leagues to open, is also on the Thursday card.

Friday night's will find the Ohio Brass and Dominion Electric leagues in action.

Other leagues will launch their seasons as soon as organization plans can be completed.

It looks like a big year on the bowling fronts this season.

THAT "DREAM" GAME

"Dr. Jock Sutherland, who coached the All-Stars, started a team against the Giants that was composed of nine men who played under him at Pittsburgh last year, and two Carnegie Tech ringers. This squad was resolute on defense, all right, but soon showed that it had no more chance of scoring that Hitler has of getting this year's Nobel Peace prize," the United Press' Henry McLemore wrote after watching the N. Y. Giants trim the Eastern All-Stars, 10-0.

PROBABLY MEANT MURPHY

Story in a Columbus paper: "Russ Van Orman, who coached with success for 16 years at Mansfield High, is replacing Jim Tatum, North Carolina-bound, on the Cornell coaching staff." Wonder if they meant Murphy?

Ralph Waite, late of Ashland college, who has won something like 18 out of 22 games for the Canton Terriers, has been sold to the Boston Red Sox. He reports next spring.

* * *

Toledo Mudhens have invaded the Tiffin forces again, but players to join the parent club do not have to report until next spring. Mudhens recalled are Pitchers Al Curry and Rex Brown, First Baseman John Cindric and Outfielders Mike Rollins and Eddie Kudrycki.

Braves Close Season With Tiffin Sunday

Stover Expected to Send Howard Patterson Against Hens In 1939 Finale at Fairground.

IT WILL be all over but the shouting Sunday, and, as it now looks, there will be little for the Braves to shout about.

Our cellar Braves ring down the curtain on their 1939 Ohio State league campaign at the Fairground at 3 p. m. Sunday, and, in all probability, Howard Patterson, a Mansfield-born boy, who now resides in Ontario, will toss the pellets plateward in the finale.

Sunday's game at the Fairground may yet have an important bearing on the final standings. If the Braves should win in Lima tonight and again Sunday, they can tie the Pandas for fifth place providing the present occupants of the position lose their remaining games. Lima still rates a mathematical chance to win fourth place from Tiffin.

Mansfield dented Lima's fourth-place hopes last night at the Fairground when they took a twin bill from the Pandas in "The News-Journal Night" games which attracted 800 spectators.

In the first of the two abbreviated games, Leon Maloney pitched well enough to halt the Pandas, 7 to 6, and Lefty Mossor looked more like the old Mossor as he set the visitors down to win by a 2 to 1. The afterpiece went eight innings.

Incidentally, both games ended in the same manner, the winning runs being forced across by walks.

The lead changed hands several times in the first game which was fetaured by Hank Edwards' 18th home run of the season with one aboard in the third.

In the sixth heat two runs behind, the Braves knotted the score on Charley Wrenn's lusty triple to the scoreboard and three walks, the last of the three issued to Maloney filling the sacks. An error on an attempted double play sent Jack Weiler home with the tying tally.

Manager Dewey Stover opened the game-winning seventh with a double, his second of the game. Two errors filled the bases after Edwards whiffed. Then Manager Lefty Settlemire, who replaced Lefty Biscan on the hill in the sixth, passed Weiler to force Stover home with the winning run.

In the excitement of Mansfield's sixth, Settlemire became slightly disturbed over an umpire's ruling, and threw the ball over the fence. But, as usual, Settlemore stayed in the ball game for his act, despite the fact that such a stunt usually means automatic ouster.

The second tilt developed into a first-class pitcher's battle, with Mossor opposing another southpaw, Willett. Woodten's triple gave the Pandas one run in the first, and the invaders never tallied again.

Mansfield did not score until the last half of the seventh, the final inning, when Weiler doubled and scored on a pair of infield outs.

The ball game was won in the extra inning, when Stover walked and went to second on Edwards' infield single. Both runners were placed in scoring position by Wrenn's sacrifice.

Siegbert strolled to load the sacks and, when Willett found it impossible to find the plate, Weiler walked, forcing in the winning run.

The Tinkey Lumbers concluded their softball season by defeating Lincoln Heights, 11 to 2, at Lincoln Heights field yesterday. McCarter was on the mound for the Lumbers and yielded only six hits. He also starred at the plate with two triples and a single.

Hi-Speed, Liberty Clubs Vie

Tangle In Double-Header Sunday In Attempt to Clarify City Title Picture.

FIRST attempts to settle the city semi-pro baseball championship will be made Sunday when the Mansfield Hi-Speeds and Liberty park tangle in a double-header at Liberty park.

Unless one team wins both ends of the twin bill, a deciding game will be played later, it was announced.

The first game of the bargain bill will get under way at 1 p. m., with Don Dudley of the Hi-Speeds tangling on the mound with Bill Knackstedt.

These two pitchers recently battled to a 2 to 2 tie in a recent game.

Petey Beer, who apparently, has regained the form which made him one of the most feared pitchers on the local sandlots a year ago, will hurl for the Oils in the afterpiece, with Pete Keiser going to the mound for the Parkmen.

The Hi-Speeds and Liberty Park recently competed in the Richland county tournament, but were eliminated in the semi-finals.

Findlay Oilers Win State Title

FINDLAY — (AP) — The Ohio State league title goes to the Findlay Oilers.

A five-game win streak did the trick, climaxed last night by a 6-5 decision over Fremont.

Grocery Team In First Place

Gains Lead In Golf League With Win Yesterday.

With Thelma Linster pounding out a 77 to lead the attack, the Guiher Grocery foursome walloped Golden-Russell, 3 to 0, to jump into first place in The News-Journal women's handicap league yesterday at Possum Run.

The Liberty Shoes hold the runner-up spot by virtue of a 4 to 0 triumph over the Meder Recreation team, while Bates' Candies took a 2 to 0 decision from the DeMilo Beauty Salon in the other match.

Mrs. Linster's card, which was one under women's par, gave her individual medal honors.

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

It takes slightly more than 100 pounds of food to supply a squirrel for a year, according to American Wildlife Institute. Contrary to general opinion, little the gray squirrel attempts to eat is lost, for he is thrifty and has the habit of burying all food he cannot consume at the moment. Sometimes he digs it up later, but more often forgets about it, and millions of forest trees have sprung from nuts the squirrels have planted in this man

WEEP FOR LOVE + + + + +

CHAPTER XXXI

"I thought—she was—married to you," Elizabeth answered brokenly. "And—that's why—"

He leaned a little towards her.

"Is there peace in our camp?" he asked again. And then, before she could answer, "Oh, my darling, say that you care for me—just a little?"

She tried to smile, but her lips trembled too much. She tried to answer, but her words would not come, so she just went to the arms which were waiting for her.

It was nearly dark before Elizabeth came back to earth.

"Whatever will Mrs. Selby say?" she asked in happy confusion.

Lawless laughed.

"I shall say that we had a breakdown— two—if necessary—and trust to good luck that I shall be believed."

He opened the door of the car and got out into the wet road, turning to ask:

"You're not still thinking of running away, are you, my sweet?"

She leaned through the open window to kiss him.

"You'll never know how much I love you," she said earnestly. "Ever since that day in the wood when I stole your primroses."

"And my heart with them," he answered. He raised her hand to his lips. "I've got the real Elizabeth who has been hiding away from me."

"That's what Roy said," she answered. And then quickly, "Oh, what will Roy say?"

* * *

They looked at each other in silence till Elizabeth said shyly:

"Darling, would you mind very much if we didn't tell them—just yet? You see, there's Penelope, too. Couldn't we wait—just a little while—just till I am home again?"

Lawless frowned.

"And I am to stand by and see Roy appropriating you, and hear you calling him 'darling'?"

Elizabeth smiled.

"It's funny," she said incredulously, "but when I say 'darling' and it means you, it seems quite a different word from when I just say 'darling' and it doesn't mean anything."

She looked at him with shy pleading.

"Then—will you? I mean—will you wait—just a little longer?"

"When you look at me like that, how can I refuse?" He got back into the car.

"Now I suppose we must go back," he said ruefully. "And I also suppose that it is good-bye."

"Only for a few days," she interrupted quickly. "You see, I want to tell Penelope myself. I must tell her myself."

"I'm not a patient man, my beloved. Don't keep me waiting too long."

She gave a little sigh as he turned the car about for home.

"What was that for?" Lawless demanded quickly.

"I was thinking," Elizabeth answered, "that I wish my mother could know how happy I am. You didn't know my mother, Kim. But she was the dearest—loveliest—"

"She was your mother," Lawless answered.

As they turned in at the drive of High Chimneys, he said comically:

"Don't forget that we've had two bad punctures, and, if it's a lie, you've forced it upon me, my angel. And so it's the very whitest lie that was ever told."

* * *

But luck was with them, for the family was still out when they arrived. Barbara had rung up to say that she was staying to supper with the Beaseleys—not that she really wished to stay, she might have added, but that she was hoping Kim would be sorry and miss her. And Mrs. Selby had decided at the last moment to go to Bridgelake with her husband and Roy. "And dinner is put back till eight-thirty, miss," the maid informed them.

"I'll go and change," Elizabeth said at once, but Lawless drew her into the library and took her in his arms.

"This love will never pass away, Elizabeth," he said with deep emotion. "Neither with time nor eternity."

* * *

Elizabeth was to go home at the end of the week.

"Penelope and I are staying only a few days in Bath," Miss Thornley had told her. "So if we all return on Saturday that will do nicely."

"Why must you go?" Roy asked miserably, when Elizabeth spoke about packing. "Betty darling, please stay. We've been so happy."

"I can't," she answered. "It's been a lovely holiday—the best I've ever had—and—when I get home—I'll write to you, Roy—I promise I'll write to you."

"To say . . .?" he asked eagerly.

"No," she answered. "I can't ever say that—"

"Then let me drive you up to town," he urged. "Please let me. I don't want to stay here without you. Lawless can go by himself. Why should that fellow take you when I can?"

But she had not the courage to tell him why. It would be so much easier to write.

But there was still Penelope, and Elizabeth could not bear to think what Penelope would say.

And yet she was glad to be going home. The past few days had been too much of a strain for real happiness.

"I shall never be able to pretend as Penelope does," she thought with a sigh, and she wondered that nobody had sensed the alteration in her relationship with Kim.

She had avoided him a little too much perhaps—and yet often she had felt his eyes upon her, and once when they met on the stairs it had been almost a superhuman effort just to pass him as if it did not matter.

"It will be different after tomorrow," she comforted herself, and tried to forget that there was still Penelope.

It was breakfast-time the last morning that Mr Selby was called to the telephone.

"Why do people ring up at such unearthly hours?" he grumbled, as he rose from the table, but he was gone only a moment or two before he returned and spoke through a half-closed door. "Come here, Lawless, will you?"

Mrs. Selby looked faintly surprised.

"There must be a mystery," she said, smiling.

In the hall, Mr. Selby took Kim's arm and drew him into the library.

"A shocking thing has happened," he said in a very moved voice. "I hardly know how to tell you but as you're the most disinterested party—or perhaps I shouldn't say that—anyway, I couldn't tell the women. That telephone call was from Miss Thornley, Elizabeth's aunt. Poor woman, she was so distracted it took me some time to make out what she said. But she tells me that Penelope, poor child, is dead, Kim. They found her this morning. An overdose of sleeping draught, the doctor thinks. It appears that she has been in the habit of taking it since she was ill. Here—steady, my boy." For Kim's tall figure had reeled beneath the elder man's grasp. "Sit down. It must be a terrible shock to you, I know."

He pushed his spectacles up over his forehead with an agitated hand.

"Shocking thing, shocking," he said again. "But—who knows? Perhaps it's for the best—from all accounts she wasn't too happy, eh?" He looked at Lawless with faint apology. "Don't think that's a reproach for you, Kim, will you?"

Lawless shook his head and an unhappy silence followed, till Mr. Selby said with a sigh: "They're a tragic family, those Challoners. Love affairs always go wrong—eh?" he added, blundering again in his distress.

Weep for Love! Kim Lawless walked away to the window and looked out over the sunny garden to where the cupid wept at the foot of the sundial—and again he told himself passionately. "Our love shall never pass away—neither in time nor eternity."

"Someone must tell that poor child, Elizabeth," Mr. Selby was saying in a troubled voice.

Kim turned around.

"I'll tell her, sir," he said quietly.

(THE END)

THEATERS

Revive Old Songs.

A bright, melodious host of grand old songs and four new numbers are sung and danced in the new Bing Crosby picture, "The Star Maker," opening at the Madison theater today. Among the old numbers are "School Days," "Tammany," and "If I Was a Millionaire." The film tells how Crosby, a tin-pan alley song writer, rises to the top of the entertainment world by making stars out of talented youngsters. Others in the cast include Louise Campbell, Ned Sparks, and Linda Ware.

Opens Regular Engagement.

"The Rains Came," the screen version of Louis Bromfield's best seller, opens a regular engagement at the Ohio theater this afternoon. The new picture had it's world's premiere at the Ohio and Madison last night.

"Stand Up and Fight."

A new co-starring team of Wallace Beery and Robert Taylor makes its first appearance in "Stand Up and Fight," one of the features opening at the Majestic theater Sunday. The film describes the bitter rivalry between the railroad and stagecoach lines in the 1850's. Florence Rice and Charles Bickford head the supporting cast. Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane head the cast in "Brother Rat," the second picture. The picture follows the romantic adventures of the two while Morris is attending a military institute.

"Sorority House."

How a pretty co-ed is pledged into a college sorority through the well meant scheming of an upper-classman is the basis of "Sorority House," one of the films gracing the screen at the Park theater Sunday. Ann Shirley plays the girl whose lack of cash and social prestige makes her ineligible to her school's snobbish sororities. And then a football hero steps into the picture. James Ellison and Barbara Reed are in the cast. Bette Davis and Leslie Howard in "Of Human Bondage," completes the twin bill.

"Union Pacific."

Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea are co-starred in the romantic leads of "Union Pacific," which returns to the Ritz theater Sunday for its second run in Mansfield. The film centers around the adventures of a government man in his fight to help keep order along the right-of-way of the new railroad. The Jones Family in "Everybody's Baby," with Jed Prouty, Shirley Deane, Spring Byington and Russell Gleason is the second picture on the double feature program.

PAM—Contact! y A. W. Brewerton

THAT'S RIGHT, MR KEENE!—WHILE THE SOUNDS WERE MUFFLED —IT'S A THICK DOOR —I FEEL ALMOST CERTAIN THERE WAS MORE THAN ONE VOICE —THOUGH I COULDN'T UNDERSTAND WHAT WAS SAID!—AFTER I TRIED TO OPEN THE DOOR, THE SOUNDS STOPPED I'D HARDLY RETURNED TO MY DESK WHEN GRIGGS OPENED THE DOOR!
9-9
BY CAREFUL MANEUVERING, TO AVOID BEING FOLLOWED, INSTRUCTIONS FOR WHICH HAD BEEN GIVEN PAM, SHE HAS SAFELY CONTACTED THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY!
OKAY!—WANT T'SEE ME, GIRLIE?
OH—WHY, I JUST WANTED TO ASK YOU ABOUT SOMETHING IN THIS DOCUMENT!
HE SWUNG HIS DOOR WIDE OPEN, AND I HAD A CLEAR VIEW OF HIS ENTIRE OFFICE; THERE WAS NO ONE ELSE IN IT!
VERY, VERY INTERESTING, MISS DIXON! —I BELIEVE YOU'VE GOT SOMETHING —GOT SOMETHING BIG!
I TRIED NOT TO SHOW HOW EXCITED I WAS—I HOPE HE DIDN'T SUSPECT ME —HE'S VERY KEEN!
HAS PAM REALLY MADE AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY?

JUDGE PUFFLE By Gene Ahern

SAY, PUFFLE, YOU MIGHT THINK I'M PUTTING MY CHIN ON YOUR FIDDLE, BUT THAT WILD WEST FRIEND OF YOURS SAYS HE'S DIGGING A GOLD MINE IN YOUR YARD!—THIS IS RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY—SO HAVE HIM STOP OR I'LL PUT IN A COMPLAINT!
TOSH, NEIGHBOR MORGAN, ALLAY YOUR FEARS—TERRY IS JESTING—HE IS MERELY EXCAVATING A PIT TO BARBECUE THIS CUT OF BEEF!—
GOLD! UM-M-M MY WORD!—I WONDER IF HE COULD HAVE TURNED UP A NUGGET?
THE SPARK IS NOW A BLAZE as THE JUDGE'S MIND

NOW—$4.46 MONTHLY REPAYS $100 LOAN

Cash Loan You Get	Amount you pay back each month including all charges: 6 mos. loan	12 mos. loan	20 mos. loan	30 mos. loan
$ 20	$ 3.57	$ 1.89	$ 1.22
70	12.50	6.62	4.28
100	17.85	9.45	6.12	$ 4.46
200	35.71	18.91	12.22	8.93
300	53.56	28.37	18.35	13.39
400	71.06	37.83	24.47	17.55
500	88.34	46.46	29.75	21.44

Examine this table. It shows that $4.46 a month repays everything on a $100 loan in 30 months. The faster you pay, the less the total cost. These payments are calculated at Household's new reduced rates of 2% monthly on balances up to $300 and 1½% yearly on balances over $300 to $500. These rates are less than legal maximums, and are the same to everyone—one price to all. Only borrowers sign—no endorsers on any loan. No credit inquiries of friends or relatives.

Statistics show that today there are 375,000 American citizens dwelling in other parts of the world — and wishing they didn't.

An American just naturally can't take too gloomy a view of the news when he realizes that wheat cakes and country sausage are only weeks away.

When statesmen close their minds to all argument it isn't long before their countries are forced to close their borders, too.

Junior wants to know if the reason medieval times were called the dark ages was because the world then staged a continuous blackout.

Pa originated the blackout and he'd stage one whenever he thought he heard Ma's folk coming down the street.

ETTA KETT

THE LAB CHECKED THAT GLASS FOUND AT TH' SCENE OF TH' ACCIDENT -- IT'S OUTA THAT GREEN JALOPY ALL RIGHT!
WHAT'LL IT BE?
A QUART OF VANILLA?
OH, MAN! THEN ITS THE HIT-N-RUN CAR? DONT FORGET I TIPPED YA OFF!" I CAN USE THAT REWARD."
DONT SPENT IT! WE AINT GOT THE DRIVER YET!
A GAL BROUGHT IT IN -- SWELL-LOOKIN' NUMBER." HEY." HERE SHE COMES NOW!
ITTY-BITTY FISHES
YES, THIS MY CAR -- OF COURSE, ITS DADS REALLY." WHY?
SORRY, YOU'RE UNDER ARREST!
DON, DARLING! YOU SHOULDNT HAVE COME HERE!
BUT, POLLY." THEY'VE ARRESTED ETTA FOR THAT AUTO ACCIDENT WE CAUSED!
LISTEN! -- IF WE TELL THE POLICE WE WERE DRIVING THAT CAR -- NOT HER -- THE PAPERS WILL FIND OUT WE'RE MARRIED! -- AND I'LL LOSE MY FORTUNE!
SOME JAM!
LET'S CHUCK THE MONEY-- AND GO AWAY ON A HONEYMOON." HEY... WHAT'S THE MATTER -?
GRANDFATHER'S COMING." QUICK! I'VE GOT A PRETEND FIGHTING
YOU CAN'T MAKE A FOOL OF ME! I'M THRU!"
I NEVER WANT TO SEE YOU AGAIN! NEVER!!
I'M CHECKIN' OUT OF YOUR LIFE RIGHT NOW!
WAIT A MINUTE AND I'LL HAVE YOU THROWN OUT OF IT!"
EJECT THAT YOUNG PUP, PLUSHBOTTOM!"
VERY GOOD, SIR!
A PERFECT THREE-POINT LANDING! NOT BAD!
THE OVERGROWN TERMITE." IF I NEVER SEE HIM AGAIN IT WON'T BE A MINUTE TOO SOON!"
THANK GOODNESS YOU'VE GOT YOUR FILL OF HIM AT LAST!
I'LL SEND YOU ON A CRUISE, SO YOU CAN FORGET HIM." I'LL ARRANGE IT AT ONCE!
I'M PRACTICALLY PACKED!"
That lover's quarrel was a phoney -- but grandpop fell for it." That gal is up to something!" She's as full of tricks as a deck of cards!"
The police, finding ETTA'S smashed car, have arrested her as a Hit and Run driver... SHE'S IN A TOUGH SPOT!"
HONEST, INSPECTOR, I WASN'T EVEN IN THE CAR -- FRIENDS OF MINE HAD BORROWED IT -- THAT ALIBI WONT HOLD WATER UNLESS YOU BRING 'EM IN." IF THEY TAKE THE BLAME -- THAT LETS YOU OUT!"
ETTA!!
DONS NOT PLAYING IN THE BAND." HE QUIT YESTERDAY." I CANT LOCATE HIM ANY PLACE!
THAT LEAVES ME HOLDING THE BAG!" POLLY IS OUR ONLY CHANCE!
HELLO, POLICE HEADQUARTERS!
CALL MY FATHER, PLEASE!" I'VE GOT TO GET OUT -- SOME WAY -- ANY WAY -- AND QUICK!!
THIS IS A SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST YOU!" I'LL ASK THE JUDGE ABOUT BAIL!
REMEMBER," YOU'RE OUT ON BAIL -- SO KEEP CLEAR OF TROUBLE!"
STEW AND I ARE MAKING A LITTLE SOCIAL CALL." SEE YOU LATER!
I'VE GOT A HUNCH DON AND POLLY ARE GOING TO RUN OUT AND LET YOU TAKE THE RAP FOR THEM IN THIS CASE! HE'S DISAPPEARED ALREADY." POLLY IS YOUR ONLY ALIBI!"
WE'VE GOT TO MAKE HER TALK!
WE WANT TO SEE MISS BORDEN!
I'M SORRY -- MISS POLLY BORDEN IS NOT AT HOME!
SHE BETTER BE HOME."
SO, SHE'S DOING A FADE OUT, TOO?
THE BUTLER WAS RIGHT -- POLLY WASN'T HOME." I'LL BET SHE'S GIVING US THE SLIP, LIKE DON DID!
LOOK!
-- AN EXPRESS TRUCK LOADING UP TRUNKS."
YES! AND THEY'RE POLLY BORDEN'S, TOO -- SEE THE INITIALS!?
SHE'S TAKING A TRIP! -- BUT WHERE?" THAT'S THE QUESTION." COME ON -- LETS FOLLOW THE BAGGAGE!
WAIT! I'VE GOT A SLICKER PLAN!
I'M MISS BORDEN'S PERSONAL MAID --
